TABERNACLE OFFERINGS MOUNT TO SUM OF $7,252

19,000 People Attend Sunday Services in Pine Temple

273 WALK SAWDUST TRAIL

Dr. Biederwolf Preaches Sermon on "The Atonement"

Total collection at the Biederwolf tabernacle Sunday was $3,400. At the morning church member's meeting, $2,458 was taken on subscriptions. The offerings were from 350 donors to $1.

The regular morning collection amounted to $77.51. The afternoon collection at the rally day meeting totaled $153.33. The evening subscription amounted to $468. A few of the offerings were made, a number of $10 each, others for $5 and a host of $1 contributions. In addition the evening collection amounted to $213.14. The total to date is advanced to $7,252.87.

A total of 19,000 people attended the tabernacle meetings Sunday, by far the largest number present on any other day since the great sawdust trail was opened. There was a attendance of 5,000 in the morning, 7,000 at the afternoon and 7,000 at the regular evening service.

MAJOR DECISIONS
A total of 273 people walked the sawdust paths Sunday. Dr. Biederwolf's afternoon sermon made a wonderful impression on the young people, according to reports. It was a sermon upon them that they must turn to him and their future. Two hundred assembled in front of the altar. At the evening service men and women responded to the invitation.

"Today," said the evangelist at the Sunday evening service, "Jesus Christ is your Saviour and tomorrow He may be your Judge. There is a vast difference. As your Saviour He will look over your sins, make allowances that no earthly man would do and will be willing to help you up to Him. As your Judge He will give you your just reward for the life you have lived."

"A man was crossing the street; he slipped and fell and would have been run over by an automobile had not another man spring from the sidewalk and at the risk of his own life, dragged the fallen man to safety. The next day the man who had fallen in the street was arrested for some crime and as he was taken before the judge his face lighted up with pleasure. The judge on the bench was the man who had sprang into the street and saved him the day before. 'He will be easy on me,' thought the man; 'he has a big heart for he saved me yesterday at the risk of his own life.' But the judge did not show any signs of knowing him and pronounced a severe but just sentence for the crime. 'Why,' said the man 'don't you know me?' 'I'm the man you saved yesterday,' 'Yes,' answered the judge, 'I know. Yesterday I was your saviour and today I am your judge.'"

The Sunday evening service was opened by several donations for the tabernacle. Miss Pauline Reed sang a solo, after which her brother came to the platform and they sang "CHRIST'S ATONEMENT."

Dr. Biederwolf preached on "The Atonement of Christ." "Christ died for the cross that He might gain for us the right of life. He died for us and by so doing, atone for the sins of the world that we might come to Him with our misdoings and be forgiven and start anew."

"In Germany there is a man who declares there is nothing to the story of Christ dying on the cross and that He never even walked on the earth as the Son of Mary. It is a lie."

TURKEY DEMANDS STRAITS CONTROL

Ottoman Request Presented to Near East Conference

LAUSANNE — (Associated Press) — The closing of the Dardanelles to all warships except those of Turkey and giving Turkey the right to fortify the straits were advocated by Foreign Minister Tschitchehri of Russia at today's meeting of the Lausanne conference called to discuss the question of the straits.

Ismet Pasha, leading Turkish delegate, asked for absolute Turkish control of the straits, without demilitarization.

The preliminary exposition of the question by the representatives of the great powers had not been completed when the meeting was adjourned.

The American delegation included Richard Washburn Child, Joseph C. Grew, Rear Admiral Bristol and Secretaries Behn and Emory.

Tschitchehri insisted that Turkish sovereignty could only be guaranteed by the presence of Turkish warships in the straits, while the warships of other powers should be prohibited from entering them.

His speech caused such a commotion in the ranks of the allies that Lord Curzon rose and remarked ironically that the conference was interested to observe that the Russians who came to Lausanne representing three countries, were now acting as the mouthpiece for a fourth, namely Turkey. In this he referred to Russia representing Georgia and the Ukraine as well as Russia herself.

FIREMEN OUSTED BY CHIEF MACK

Wild Drive in Auto Costs Three Men Jobs

LIQUOR INVOLVED IN CASE

Members on Leave Will Fill New Vacancies

Three firemen were suspended from the Lima department Monday by Chief John Mack following alleged voluntary confessions made to him in which they are said to have admitted anticipated charges of disorderly conduct.

The men are Steward Scullin and Charles Burr of Central and John Moore of fire house number four.

They will be given an opportunity to present any facts or excuses they have, to the chief at a conference Monday afternoon. Mack, however, will not deviate from his original announcement, that the men are suspended, he declared.

He will advise them to appeal their cases to City Manager Bingham in the event they desire to contest his ruling.

Suspension came to the trio as the result of an escapade Saturday afternoon and evening in which liquor is said by Mack to have figured prominently. The men are charged by Mack with having toured the south part of the city in an automobile, leaving a wake of destruction in their path.

COMPLAINTS ARE FILED
Two definite complaints were filed against them thru the office of the city manager, Monday morning. J. R. Harbold, 1011 Linden-av., after determining the occupants of a machine which he said took a winding course over his lawn Saturday night, tearing down young trees and uprooting shrubbery, reported the incident to the city.

Mack said W. E. Erbenthal, 1219 E. Kibby-st., almost simultaneously complained that three firemen under the influence of liquor, driving an Oakland automobile, crashed into his machine at the corner of Harrison-av and Kibby-sts about 8 p. m. Saturday. A wheel on his car was broken.

Rumors of members of the fire department having participated in an escapade Saturday, were rife over the city Sunday. They are said to have grown out of a statement that one of the occupants of the Oakland car careened out of the machine after it had hit the other car, and announced to its driver that "everything would be all right because they were city firemen."

Shortly after noon Saturday the three firemen called Mack by phone and informed him of the incident, Mack said. It was the first he knew of it. He immediately began an investigation which resulted in the suspension of the trio.

ACTS ARE DEPLORED
"We cannot tolerate such actions by members of our department, particularly at such a crucial time as this," Mack declared. "Suspension is the only thing for them. It opens up three places for men whom we were forced to give temporary leaves of absence because of the city's financial condition."

The chief announced definitely that places left vacant by the three men as a result of their suspension will be filled by three of the six who were relieved from duty Friday in pursuance with orders from city officials.

He has not as yet made any choice, however, he said, as to which of the three released on the first of the month, will be asked to fill the vacancies left by the suspensions.

The men suspended had nothing to say concerning their cases Monday. They made voluntary explanations to Mack at the first opportunity, they said. The rest, they left up to the chief.

"They might have resigned immediately," was the only comment Mack made when he announced that indefinite suspension would be the punishment for the escapade.

BUTLER FAILS OF CONFIRMATION

Senate Refuses to Act on Supreme Court Nomination

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — The nomination of Pierce Butler, Democrat, attorney of St. Paul, Minn., to be associate justice of the United States supreme court, was not acted upon in the senate today.

Certain progressive elements in the senate had announced their opposition to Butler.

Butler's nomination was in the list presented at the executive session of the senate but the other nominations of lesser importance were made, his name was omitted from the list.

The senate adjourned its special session without taking formal action on the nomination and thus it automatically fails of confirmation.

"President Harding must reforward the nomination to the senate during the next session if it is to be acted upon."

GIRL IS KIDNAPED

Captured at Youngstown While Waiting for Fiance

YOUNGSTOWN — (Associated Press) — Police today are baffled by the mysterious kidnaping last night of Pauline Camperhill, 16, while she and her sister Mary were waiting on a downtown street for her fiance to bring up his automobile in which the three were to go for a drive.

According to Mary, while the girls were waiting at the curb for Pauline's fiance, a large touring car drove up, two men alighted, grabbed Pauline and sped away in the car.

The girls' relatives know of no motive for the kidnaping.

U. S. EXPENSE CUT $600,000,000

Figures Given by Harding in Message to Congress

SUBMITS ANNUAL BUDGET

Regular Session Opens as Special Assemblage Closes

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — With a brief ten-minute interval, congress today ended its extraordinary session and at noon entered upon its regular December session. It is the fourth assembling of the 67th congress and its last.

The session will last until March 4, when the present congress expires by law.

Preparatory to main routine business of the session—passage of appropriation bills for all government departments — President Harding transmitted his budget message, setting forth the needs of the government as compiled by the budget bureau.

This message was a letter from Mr. Harding transmitting the recommendations of Budget Director Lord. It was read in both houses.

The president's annual legislative message will be read in person before a joint session of house and senate tomorrow or possibly later in the week. This message is looked on as one of the most important transmitted forth by the government since the needs of the government are compiled by the budget bureau.

The president indicated that his budget message that the federal budget for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1933, will be approximately three billion dollars—the lowest yearly expenditures of the government since the days before the war.

Praising the rigid economy which the budget bureau enforced during the last year, the president pointed out that the government is now back to pre-war days in general expenditures.

Of the three billions asked, two can be attributed to the war. He made it plain that his administration will continue to fight for greater economy.

The president indicated that because nearly two thirds of the government's yearly bill represent the fixed charges resulting from the war it will be difficult to reduce taxes in the near future.

The budget system the President declared was "the greatest reform in our financial history."

EXPENSE REDUCTION
Government expenditures during the next fiscal year $3,130,843,235, a reduction of nearly six hundred million dollars as compared with the expenditures of the current year.

Specifically the executive asked for appropriations of $3,678,949.69, the difference between appropriations and expenditures being attributed to the fact that congress

DARKNESS AID TO CRIMINALS

W. M. Johnson Residence Looted, $182.30 Is Stolen

FOOTPADS MAKE HAUL OF $48

Virgil Settemire Robbed by Armed Thugs in Street

Holdup men and robbers made effective work of two jobs Sunday night according to complaints filed with the police department.

W. M. Johnson, 317 N. Central-av., reported the theft of $178 in cash and $7.30 in checks from his room.

Virgil Settemire, 212 E. Eureka-st., sent a hurry call to headquarters seeking assistance after two men accosted him at Eureka-st and Central-av and relieved him of $48.

Police scoured the city in search of suspicious characters, after the robberies were reported, but darkness, they said, hindered their efforts.

Entrance to Johnson's place of residence, the report to headquarters indicates, was forced. The room was ransacked until the men were found. Thieves then dashed in their search and made good their getaway.

Johnson expressed the belief he is certain of the identity of the thief. He gave police the name of the man he suspects.

NIGHT LACK AID CROOKS
Settemire was able to give only a meagre description of the two men who accosted him. Lack of light made identification difficult, he said. The two who held him up approached him at the intersection of Eureka-st and Central-av and demanded his valuables. They forced their demands by displaying weapons.

They took Settemire's money and disappeared.

In addition to the two robberies, numerous complaints concerning the presence of powers in various parts of the city were received at headquarters. Police were kept busy thruout the night investigating such reports. In some instances, care exercised by residents of the city, alarmed prowlers who might have been robbers. They departed without creating disturbances.

One case of a mysterious nature was brought to the attention of police when Mrs. Rose Nichols, rear of 635 N. Union-st, complained that someone had tampered with her automobile. Investigation disclosed that emery had been poured into the cylinders, the police return says.

Other police and Mrs. Nichols are at a loss to explain the incident.

30 BELIEVED LOST

Steamers' Crews May be Drowned—Ships Overdue

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich. — (United Press) — Fear was expressed here today for the lives of 30 members of the crews of the steamer Thomas Mayhew and her tow barge Tyrone, down-bound, which are several days overdue.

According to reports in marine circles here the Mayhew and Tyrone were seen last Thursday leaving Fort William just before the storm which wrecked the Maplehurst, swept over the lake.

It is believed that the vessels may have been blown on the Canadian shore of Lake Superior by the stiff wind of last Thursday. The vessels are owned by the General Transit Company of Cleveland.

MERCHANTS HAVE RELIEF PLAN

Will Assess Selves to Amount of $900 For Cost

IS UP TO CITY COMMISSION

Proposition to be Presented This Afternoon

Lima's boulevard lights may shine tonight.

Faced by prospect of decreased Christmas shopping and consequent heavy losses, decreased patronage by theater goers and general unsatisfactory conditions due to the turning out of the street lights by the city commission, merchants of the city have acted.

When the city commission meets Monday afternoon in special session a delegation of business men headed by George Barry and Frank Bents will wait upon them and personally guarantee the amount necessary to have each of the 1,349 boulevard lights burning during the Christmas season.

Business men who have signed the communication and who will obtain the subscription of the other business men are: George Barry, F. H. Bents, Harry B. Friedman, Frank Kommink, O. C. Plummer, F. J. Bents, Glen O. Webb, Roy B. Gragg, E. R. Lindemuth and George E. Carter.

"Realizing the unfortunate position in which the citizens of Lima find themselves, with reference to the failure of the boulevard lighting system to burn," the communication will read, "we, the undersigned respectfully ask your honorable body to turn on all lights known as the boulevard lighting system at once, and do guarantee the payment of $900 to cover the cost of the same for a period of 30 days."

REPAIRS ON LAMP
There is every indication that the city commission will listen to the plea of the merchants and turn on the lights, it is stated, especially as all cost will be borne by the merchants and not by the city. Approval by them will permit the lights to burn Monday night.

"We realize that the hundreds of fathers and mothers, boys and girls, as well as the country patrons will not have the real holiday spirit if the streets are dark and gloomy," Barry said Monday.

"By turning on the lights during the holiday season everyone will feel better and the business and social life will be stimulated rather than depressed," he added.

According to the plan now devised, the men whose names are attached to the communication to the city commission will call upon his merchant neighbors and attempt to obtain a total of 30 subscriptions at $10 each.

WILL PAY $10 EACH
It is not planned to ask any merchant to pay more than $10 toward the upkeep of the light system for the month. In fact, it is desired to get as many as possible in the movement, Barry said.

Whether or not the same proposition will be continued after the first of the year, Barry was unable to say.

"Our future plans will depend entirely upon the action of the city commission and events as they occur," he said.

This plan will not affect the electric arc or gas lights, as the money guaranteed by the merchants will pay for the lights in the business district and on the main thoroughfare only.

A similar plan might be drawn up by those living in the residence district, lighted by arc lamps, and these lights turned on, Barry said. Some form of assessment has also been considered by the commission, but no action has been taken to date.

Merchants of the city are jubilant over the new plan as their slogan has been "The Lights Must Burn!" They believe the decrease in the holiday trade will be reduced to a minimum by the turning on of the boulevard lights.

STORES TO OPEN AT NIGHT
Merchants announced Monday that stores of the city positively will be open every evening except Sunday night from December 15 to 23 inclusive. This arrangement will give shoppers seven evenings for Christmas buying. The stores will be open even the present plan to get the boulevard system lighted fails, it was announced.

There is no doubt but that citizens will welcome return of the lights. Three nights of darkness has in no wise heightened their spirits and a feeling of depression has already made its appearance. It is believed the next move will be to demand by the residents in the outlying districts that the city commission immediately take some steps to relight the arc and gas lamps.

Members of the commission will take no action on the matter, however, unless the demand is strong enough and a definite plan is suggested, they have intimated.

KILLED BY AUTO
COLUMBUS — W. B. Carnahan, 25, was killed when he was struck by an automobile while riding a bicycle.

Hint to the Man Shopper: WOMEN LIKE PERFUMES

THE man shopper, floundering in the Christmas maze and getting gloomier every minute, may wisely consider rare perfumes in the list of things that please women.

This year, oriental odors are finding an enthusiastic vogue. No longer do smart women elect one unvarying perfume as indicative of personality. The dame chic now affords a number of scents, just as she has varied wardrobes to meet every occasion.

The lucky feminine recipient of one of these groups of essences will emit cries of delight.

PLANS OF POWER COMPANY TOLD

Current Supply for Lima to be Increased, Sterling Says

NEW CONTRACTS ARE MADE

Transmission Lines to Toledo Plant to be Built

Steps being taken by the Ohio Power Co. to increase the power supply of Lima from 2,000 k.w. per hour to 3,000 or more, were explained to members of the Rotary club by Harry C. Sterling, manager of the power plant here, Monday noon at the Hotel Norval.

A 1,000 k.w. generator has been repaired and put in operation at the Lima plant and is working with the recently overhauled equipment, Sterling said.

Contracts with the Western Ohio Railway whereby a 5,000 k.w. generator will be installed in the St. Marys plant to use available boiler capacity there have been completed, he said.

Current from Ft. Wayne to the amount of 2,000 k.w. will also be available as soon as certain changes are made in the transmission lines between Lima and that city, Sterling asserted.

Construction of a steel transmission line between Lima and Fostoria will be started sometime in the spring. This will make available a large amount of current from the Rail Road plant at Toledo and from the Ohio Power plant at Newark, Sterling pointed out.

Within three years it is hoped that the new plant near Zanesville will be completed and a portion of its 250,000 k.w. made available for Lima. This will mean another huge transmission line, Sterling said.

Distribution lines in the city are being overhauled and placed in the very best possible condition. Transmission lines have been acquired which will carry power into every section of the city ready for use by the manufacturing plants, Sterling told his hearers.

A brief survey of the public utility field and its importance to the dwellers of the city was given by Sterling before telling of the plans for this city.

Rotarians will provide their annual Christmas baskets this year, Edward Gordon, president, announced. Final arrangements will be made this week.

An invitation from Dr. W. E. Biederwolf to the Rotarians asking them to attend the evangelistic meetings now in progress was read. Dr. Biederwolf is an honorary member of the Rotary.

NO HEARING IN HINES CASE OF VENUE CHANGE; LIPPINCOTT ANSWERS

No hearing on the motion to transfer the trial of Otis Hines, mulatto waiter, slayer of Robert Halloran, to another county on a change of venue was held in common pleas court Monday.

An answer to the motion was filed by Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott, shortly following the noon recess.

Lippincott recited in his reply that a fair trial could be given Hines in Allen-co. Causes advanced by the defense for moving the case to an outside county were refuted by Lippincott.

In support of his answer, affidavits countering those of the defendant, were filed. Citizens who signed the affidavits asserted that it would be possible to select an unbiased jury and that no wide-spread prejudice against Hines exists in Lima or Allen-co.

The court has not assigned a time for completing the hearing.

Twelve year old Sedona Schuler, residing at 613 N. Jefferson-st., was the victim Sunday of a shot fired from a gun in the hands of a playmate.

Police were notified of the incident. They investigated.

They learned that Francis Kidwell, 14, of 623 E. Market-st., was playing with an air gun owned by Ralph Engle, 13, 606 W. Jefferson-st. He was using matches for ammunition.

One of them, accidentally struck the little girl, police say, while the three were playing together.

Thieves must have mistaken Sunday for the advent of spring instead of the approach of real winter. The weather fooled 'em. Walter Hoffman, manager of McCullough's lake park reported to police that six window screens were stolen from the dance pavilion.

FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS
Thomas Huston, 41, of 828 West-dock-av, denied that he was drunk Sunday. His wife appeared in court against him Monday. She testified that he struck her in the eye with a key of nails. Judge Jackson denied Huston had been drunk. He fined him $25 and sentenced him to serve 30 days in jail.

INJURED BY HORSE MAN MAY DIE

John Lane, Unconscious, Trampled by Equine for 12 Hours

KENTON—(Special)—For more than twelve hours an aged man lay beneath the hoofs of a horse in a barn near here, unable to summon assistance, unable to help himself—patiently, yet painfully accepting cruel but unrealized injury forced upon him by the dumb animal, Sunday.

The man, John Lane, 60, Pique, residing on the F. A. McGuffey farm, is in a critical condition as a result. His injuries are believed to be fatal.

He had gone into the barn to feed the horse. In some manner he was unable to explain, the animal threw him to the floor with such force that he was unable to arise.

Until Ralph Fry, an employee on the farm, passed nearly twelve hours later and heard the feeble cries of the aged man, Lane was subjected to trampling under the hoofs of the horse.

Physicians who examined the injured man Monday declared that practically all of his ribs had been broken by sporadic kicking. His nose is broken. His face is lacerated and probable fatal injuries have been suffered.

RAIN AUGMENTS "BLUE MONDAY"

Monday, in a weather way, was a typical "Blue Monday." Rain for the most part of the way during the daylight period was the portion that fell to the lot of mankind and presaged a dark night, unless later afternoon arrangements are complete for a return of the steepest light service.

There is prospect only of service from the boulevard lights and even that isn't certain. Having failed to exercise thrift and frugality, in laying in a supply of fuel, Ted was required to hustle after Jupiter.

Pluvius asserted himself. More rain to-night, warmer in east portion. Tuesday rain, probably turning to snow, with much colder temperature Tuesday.

Most everyone was impressed Monday with the fact that the brand of weather dished up for the first day of the week was too good to last any particular length of time.

Actually, it is reported, citizens who were clad in heavy overcoats, sought the shady side of the street, for comfort.

Something unusual for December 3d but it's a fact.

Lantern Serves As Street Light

Somebody residing in the east end has a keen sense of humor.

Lightless Lima nights afforded that individual an opportunity to give vent to his playfulness.

He sought to penetrate the shroud of darkness which enveloped the city Sunday night.

He affixed a lighted lantern to the wires from which hung the useless are lamp.

The intersection of Bellefontaine and Dewey-avs, as a result was not dark. Neither was it very light.

The lantern was still burning at noon Monday.

5 ADMITTED TO CITIZENSHIP

Five new citizens were given papers by Judge Fred C. Becker at a naturalization hearing held in common pleas court Monday.

The quintet of new Americans, representing Germany, Great Britain and Greece, were questioned regarding their knowledge of the laws of the country and then sworn in. John T. Cotter, clerk of the courts, administered the oath of allegiance.

Each new citizen was then presented with flag and button by Mrs. E. C. Powell, of the Americanization committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"We present this flag to you in the hope that you will become a good citizen," declared Mrs. Powell.

"If our committee can help you in any way to accomplish that end, we are ready to do so."

Judge Becker also urged the members of the class to continue their study of the government and its forms, that they might use the ballot with greater intelligence.

The five naturalized are: Alexander G. Cumberford, 402 N. Pine-st; Timothy J. Corbett, 823 Greenlaw-av; Otto Hell, 400 E. Pine-st; Thomas J. Jones, Gomer; Friedrich Leansie, 238 N. Jackson-st.

Petitions filed by Tom Caldeiro and Joe Paris, Austrians, and Louis Fox were dismissed.

Petitions filed by Frank Schaffer, Germany; Harry Chakeres, Greek, were continued. Joseph Dybsack, Austrian, 1237 St. Johns-av, was instructed to file a new petition.

No women applicants for citizenship appeared at the hearing. It is believed by naturalization officials, however, that several may seek citizenship papers at the April hearing.

ADVANTAGES FOR ALIENS IN LIMA

This City Leads, "Education Week" Facts Indicate

Lima is far in advance of the majority of Ohio cities, regarding advantages which it offers to aliens, who are seeking to become American citizens.

This fact was brought out Monday in the observance of "Education Week." The big event of the first day of the week is naturalization and Monday arrangements were made all over the state to make a special appeal to aliens to become citizens.

In Lima, however, the night schools include a class for aliens who are preparing to become citizens, and instead of one day devoted to the alien, Lima is devoting two nights a week.

With but one exception the night school class includes every alien who has made application for citizenship. According to Superintendent of schools J. E. Collins, aliens who desire to become acquainted with the laws and customs of the United States may join the class for regular sessions Monday night.

One of the big events on the program for Tuesday, which is set aside for "patriotism," will be the teaching of the American Creed to every student in the schools.

This was written by William Tyler Page and has been approved by congress as embodying an ideal which every American is expected to know.

BOY, 17, FACES COURT ON MURDER CHARGE

CLEVELAND—Sam Picone, aged 17, went on trial in common pleas court here today for first degree murder in connection with the killing of his brother, Ignazio Baggia, following threats, the boy claims, Baggia made against the life of Picone's father. Baggia was shot July 26 at the Picone home. Picone says his father and Baggia had a quarrel and that he questioned Baggia regarding the threats. Baggia also swore he would kill him if he warned his father. Picone asserts.

SAFE ROBBED
CINCINNATI—Within four doors of a police station, robbers some time between Saturday night and Monday morning cracked open the safe of a Piggly Wiggly store in Corryville and stole $179 in cash. The thieves entered the store thru a rear transom which was found broken open.

DELPHOS FACTORY NIGHT WATCHMAN UNDER CHARGE OF LIQUOR POSSESSION

Sentence for John Smith, N. Main-st., Delphos, arrested Saturday night by Chief of Police H. A. Kahres and Officer Fred Boley on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, has been deferred pending further investigation.

He is held in Delphos city jail without bond, having entered a guilty plea Saturday night before Mayor J. K. Williams.

Smith is a night watchman at the Hinde-Danach paper mill and known as "Dinah Smith." He told police a man driving a large car drove up to the office of the company and inquired of him about the Lapcon highway passing the receiving information, the stranger gave him a pint of liquor, he said. The giver hailed from Ft. Wayne, he said.

Developments are expected with regard to the stranger Smith reported, according to police.

U. S. EXPENSE CUT $600,000,000

makes some appropriations which carry over from year to year.

A surplus of $180,985,125 in the government's financial operations for the next fiscal year was estimated as compared with a probable deficit this year of $273,963,713.

The total receipts of the government during the next fiscal year was estimated at $2,361,612,359 as compared with $2,429,862,959. These estimates were based on no reduction of taxes; and include a back tax collection of approximately $300,000,000.

Outstanding in the budget is the appropriation for national defense, which totals $44,431,670. The army asks for $25,852,877, which would provide for a regular army of 125,000 men and 12,000 officers. The navy wants $289,438,670, which would support 86,000. These appropriations would maintain the land and sea forces at their present strength and are the lowest since the war.

Referring to the large amounts contributing to the states each year for that we call military pensions, the president said he was concerned because he felt this policy was causing large increases in state, county and municipal indebtedness. He made no definite recommendation on this however. He also indicated he disapproved large expenditures for research, improvement and development, which have no business with "the business of government."

LOOK ENCOURAGING
That we approach the commencement of the fiscal year 1924 with an estimated surplus for that year of $120,985,125 is certainly most encouraging," said Harding.

"While I am hopeful that there will be no deficit in the current fiscal year 1923, if such a deficit does occur, this surplus for 1924 will give a margin to take care of it."

"The sum of $1,255,716,939 is provided for military functions which includes military pensions, retirement pay, annuities and world war allowances and national defense," the president said.

The amount recommended for national defense is divided into two classes: Army $256,553,637; Navy $289,442,870.

The amount recommended for maintenance and operation of the army will provide for a regular army of 125,000 officers and 125,000 enlisted men, exclusive of the Philippine scouts, which is the force now authorized by congress; will provide for the training of 15,000 reserve officers for a period of 15 days and for 150 for a period of three months, as against 5,000 for 15 days during the current fiscal year, will provide for the attendance of 38,000 men at civilian military training camps as against 27,000 during this fiscal year and will enable the military bureau to increase the strength of the national guard from 160,000 officers and men—the strength of June 30, 1922—to 215,000 officers and men.

OFFERING MOUNTS TO $7,525

bold and awful statement to those in the face of God Almighty, but who often rush in where angels fear to tread.

"Mrs. Eddy said: 'Man is not capable of sin.' The Lord says in His Word that man is capable of sin; that every man does sin and is a sinner before God. Who shall we be before God? They can't both be right. Is the idea of Mrs. Eddy's little human mind of more value than the Word of God?

"The mighty strides of civilization would not be accounted for if we were not for Christianity. No country was ever made a safe place to live in until the teachings of Jesus Christ were established. The only places of uncivilization today are the places where the Lord's Word has not reached.

"If the churches were to be taken out of your community and the Word of the savage state of yesterday, because all progress hinges directly onto the religion of your directly Father.

"There is only one thing that has ever had the power to drag the drunkard up from a drunkard's grave, to take the gambler from his table or take the professional dancer from her hellish career and that one thing has always been the sweet convincing truth of the Bible.

"When a man denies Christianity he lies in the face of common sense. Christianity were not a truth, the infidels would have crushed it long ago. They have been striving for ages to get a secure argument against it, but they have never been able to find one that would hold water.

INFIDELS BALKED

"Their only objections and arguments are that if it be true God would never have permitted His only Son, Jesus Christ, to die on the cross for our sins. There would have been an easier way and they can't see why the sufferings of a pure man could ever answer for the sins of a multitude of sinners.

"Jesus Christ had to die on the cross. He had to suffer and He had to rise from the grave to prove to the world that He was the Son of God and to show that we all must die and that we shall rise again from the grave.

"By so doing, He found pleasure in the eyes of God Almighty and received the promise from Him that all the sins of the world would be forgiven if they would be brought to the feet of Jesus Christ. The statement was not a commercial transaction; it was a moral satisfaction.

"Mr. Infidel," declared the evangelist, "when you say that the Word of God is a lie, you put God Almighty up against an awful stiff proposition. In a second He could take the life from your body and let you go to the lost world, but His love is so much above a human love, that He stays by your side thru infidelity and offers you pardon for your sins. He is ready to forgive and forget. If God had the mind of a human being, He would have the rage of a human being and many of you would never leave this tabernacle alive. You would be in hell before morning."

"Don't say that if Christ died for all, all will be saved," said Biederwolf. "If this tabernacle was filled with sick people and I had the power to say: 'Get up and come to me and you shall be made well,' I could help only those that came to me. The ones who remained in their sins and lacked the faith of my words, would still be just as sick as they were before. I do not have that power, however, but, in the name of Jesus Christ who died that your sins might be forgiven I have the power to say that as many of you who truly repent of your sins and have faith enough in the word of God to come to me and pray with me for your sins, will be forgiven and will have a clean page to start all over upon. Rise up," he continued, "come up and take your place for Him and He will prepare a place in Heaven for you and keep you from the torture of the devil in his hell."

GOD IS SAVIOR, JUDGE

"Today He is your Saviour, tomorrow He may be your Judge," He is calling you. Tomorrow may be late. Come to Him while you still have a chance and He will pardon your sins for the sake of Jesus Christ who died on the cross for you and you will be made fit to live with Him in the glory of Heaven."

At the close of the service, 73 men and women prayed at the altar with the ministers of Lima, that their sins might be cast from the judgment book in Heaven. The sermon was an affecting one. Strong men were shaken by sobs and women cried aloud.

"I am very well pleased with the result of the Young Peoples Meeting Sunday afternoon," Biederwolf said. He preached to the young people about their sins. He urged them to be more careful in their lives and try each day to live as their Heavenly Father desires them to live.

Over 7,000 persons were in the tabernacle Sunday afternoon. At the close of the meeting, 200 young people walked to the front and asked the evangelist to help them the nearer to Jesus Christ.

The morning service was given over mostly to raising money to pay the tabernacle debt. Miss Pauline Reed sang a solo and John Reed directed the congregation in singing. Dr. Biederwolf did not preach.

REMARK ON "ATONEMENT"

Dr. Biederwolf, in his sermon at the tabernacle Sunday night, spoke as follows:

"Once in the end of the age hath appeared to put away sin by sacrifice Himself," Heb. 9:26. The latest attempt to discredit the Christian faith and to annihilate the whole system of Christian doctrine has been made in Germany. They can't have more devilry over in Germany than in most all the best of the civilized world together. This time of trouble, a fellow by the name of Herr, starts out to prove that no such person as Jesus ever existed. He takes a pretty brave man, the face of who the people know is a fellow who knows the Bible, but it only goes to show that where angels fear to tread, the light is true that 'fools rush in where angels fear to tread.' He says, 'Lay your Bible aside for a moment and pick up your secular history. If I did not go to the Josephus for a better interpolation,' as I'll give

Tabernacle Sidelights

Someone said: "No wonder the Sunday attendance was so great. Everyone came to hear Miss Pauline Reed sing. It isn't often Lima is privileged to hear such wonderful vocal solos."

"Why not make a big offering," said another. "If you attended Grand opera and listened to Miss Reed sing you would pay a lot more than you are paying at the tabernacle."

"Cash one dollar" seemed to be all that the ushers could call out Sunday night. They announced it many times.

"I think the congregation has done all that can be expected of it," said Dr. Biederwolf. "It is time to look up the men who pledged themselves to put this thing over. Maybe they are not at home and maybe they do not care for the meetings. At any rate they are not here to help in this great offering, so they must be seen during the next two or three days."

"The Atonement was a commercial transaction," said Biederwolf. "It was a moral satisfaction."

"Christ cannot do it all," the evangelist exclaimed. "He died that your sins might be forgiven before the throne of God, but it is up to you to have faith in Him and be willing to walk in His ways."

"When you make light of the teachings of Jesus Christ and declare that He never died on the cross, you place God Almighty up against a mighty stiff proposition," said the evangelist. "It is just as easy for Him to watch you from the face of the earth and let you drop into the pit of hell, as it is for you to raise your little finger."

"Today Jesus is your Saviour; tomorrow He may be your Judge," Biederwolf said. "While He is your Saviour He will forgive you and make allowances, but when the time comes for Him to be your Judge, He will be a just Judge and righteousness will be done."

No services at the tabernacle Monday. This is rest day for the Biederwolf party.

you the benefit of the doubt if you want it. But what about Tacitus? A historian is mighty careful to tell the truth; that's his business. He lived right after Christ, and a long paragraph tells about Him and says He was put to death by decree of Pontius Pilate. The infidels and atheists and Godless unbelievers of later time worked kinks into their brain and callous spots on 'em trying to prove this celebrated unauthentic. But Edward Gibbon, one of their number, the great scholar of the Roman empire, said: 'Boys, it's no use; the passage stands every test; it's genuine as any passage ever penned.'

Publius Lentulus in a letter to the Roman senate, describes Jesus as a 'man of stature somewhat tall, his hair the color of a chestnut fully ripe, plain to the ears, whence downward it was more erect, curling and waving about his shoulders; his forehead plain and very delicate; his beard thick, in color like his hair; his eyes grey, quick and clear.'

Two thousand years ago they led this man out to die. His death warrant was found by the French army written on a brass plate and signed by John Zorobabel, Raphael Robani, Daniel Robani and Capet.

A TROUBLED SIGNIFICANCE

This is the man of whom the text says: 'Once in the end He appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself.' That sentence at once surrounds the death of Christ with a peculiar and instinctive significance.

Other men have laid down their lives for the truth; other men have been stoned and burned and crucified by the Godless gang, but never has it been said and never could be said of any other man that he put away sin by the death he died. Who knew no sin was made to be sin, or as the original puts it—made to be a sin offering—an offering for sin—in our behalf.

The death of Christ has some relation to sin such as no other death ever had. 'The fellow who can't see the doctrine of the atonement in the Bible can't see anything.' I want to help you to see it tonight; to help you to understand it, and to appreciate it. And if you'll listen to me now with an honest mind I think I can do it—I can help the most of you. Some of you I can't help because you don't want to be helped.

Now it's mighty important that you be right on this subject; if you are not it means to be lost forever. I don't mean that any human mind can fully grasp it, but if you'll lift your eyelids of prejudice and impartiality and false teaching you'll see enough light to bring you into right relations with God thru the cross where Christ put away your sin by the sacrifice of Himself.

WHAT IS MEANT

What does the atonement mean? It's a very ancient word and means 'at-one-ment'; it means the reconciliation of those who have been separated. So Shakespeare in 'Richard III' makes Buckle say to the queen:

'Ay, madame, he desires to make atonement between the Duke of Gloucester and your brother.'

And so the atonement of Jesus Christ was God's plan to bring about a reconciliation between Himself which He made by the word. 'You've got to begin with sin. Make light of that and the cross becomes a tragedy, and the word of God from Genesis to Revelation a mass of meaningless jargon.'

Mrs. Eddy says: 'Man is incapable of sin.' Yes she does; she says it on page 174 of the 17th edition. But John says: 'If we say we have not sinned we make God a liar.' So God's a liar or Mrs. Eddy is, and so of course, Christian Science is without atonement.

You congratulate yourself because you are not a great sinner, but the smallest sin, my friend, has an exceedingly fine edge and it had done its work—had severed between you and God. That is all, but that's enough, and you are a condemned soul tonight just as much as the prisoner who sits in his cell waiting the hour of his execution.

There's no comfort in such an assurance, but I pray God it may arouse you. Go on in your sin and your separation from God. Go on in your patronizing your indecent stage, build your houses, drive your carriages, plunge into worldliness of every sort, but just keep repeating all the time to yourself: 'I am a sinner under condemnation. The condemnation of God is upon me! Condemned! Condemned! Condemned!'

And you want to know, of course, if there is any way to get back to God—to make peace with Him and be reconciled. And I tell you: 'Yes.' God Himself has furnished it. The remedy is in Jesus Christ, dying on Calvary to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself—into the atonement.

Some old wind-jamming skeptics comes along and proceeds to rip up the scriptural doctrine of the atonement, and I say: 'Old skeptics, what else can ever charm the drunkard from his cup or cause the gambler from his cards, made the dishonest pure and the thief an honest man.' And I say: 'Until you can get out something that will make me a pure, holy man, keep me that way that will do for this old skeptic, keep what little gospel of Jesus Christ has done for it. I'm not going to expose your hellish doctrine, but I'm going to nail my hopes on the cross of Christ where my mother and her millions of millions of others of the brilliant and best of the world have done the same thing. I say, Mr. Infidel, what are your objections to the atonement?

"Well," he says, it was man's necessity. What's the need of Christ suffering? If God is love and full of goodness, why can't a man just confess his wrong and be forgiven, just as an earthly father forgives his child without demanding satisfaction in payment of a penalty? "God," he says, "ought to be as merciful as man." Well, you talk no nonsense when you talk like that.

IT WAS NECESSARY

Now listen to me. Some of the great Christian writers on the atonement hesitate to say that God couldn't have devised another way to save us. I don't. God says it was necessary for Jesus to die, and that settles it for me. "Christ must needs have suffered," the Bible says, and I don't believe God would ever have allowed Him to suffer so. I don't believe He would ever have left the Godless gang to spit in His face, and the howling mob to smite Him. He never would have allowed His blessed Son to stagger along the Via Dolorosa, underneath the weight of the mighty cross they tied upon His bleeding back fresh from the scourging of the Roman governor until tired and exhausted. He stumbled and fell and they cursed Him and smote Him and cried: "Hail, Hail," and when they came to the place where they hurled Him down on the cross, and I can see the spikes as they go into His flesh, one into His right hand and another into His left and a third thru both His feet, and I don't believe God would ever have let them do it if He could have saved the world by a method less costly. It was necessary.

IT'S GOD'S BUSINESS

Yes, you say you don't believe in it, and yet it don't offend your sense of justice very much when you see it take place. You say you might tell you it's God's business and not yours, but I won't.

Now listen to me, and I'll help you to see it if you've got anything to see it with. But you must have a permanent intellect in the face of God's because there are divine depths that human plummetts cannot sound.

When a rebellious sinner shakes his puny fist in the face of God and goes about in his sin, smacking the divine law right and left he brings God up against a serious problem. God could annihilate you in a second, if He wanted to. But He doesn't. He ought to. There are people here tonight and you ought to be in hell, the way you are treating God. We'd all be there if it wasn't for His love. And so love searched the depths of infinite wisdom for some plan by which four things could come to pass:

First—That the guilty sinner might be spared.

Second—That he might have his heart broken and become good.

Third—That the principle of justice should be honored.

Fourth—That His holy law should be vindicated and His moral government honored and upheld.

MORAL SATISFACTION

"Oh, you say, Jesus couldn't suffer a penalty equal to what was due for all our sins. No, of course He couldn't and on one ever said 'e did. It was not a commercial transaction; it was a moral satisfaction and His divine nature gave a cohesiveness to His sacrifice and a value to it when accomplished which it pleased God to accept as in eternal harmony with the demands of the situation. And you have the audacity to sit down there and say that God didn't know as much about what was right and consistent with the moral order of the universe as you do."

Now notice one other thing. God so honors the moral law of His government that He wouldn't let Jesus come into humanity without sharing the consequences of humanity's sin.

MAKES MEN GOOD

It ought to break your heart, and this is the other great glory of God's marvelous plan. Wherever it is heard it touches the heart and makes men good as no other thing could do. You talk about punishment being reformatory. It usually leaves a man worse than he was before. One can pound some men to death and never reform them. But there's a better way.

Men and women, this is the salvation that I preach to you. Without it you are lost. Don't say because Christ died for all therefore all will be saved whether you repent and believe or not. Suppose this tabernacle was full of sick people and I offered a remedy to every one who was able to walk down this aisle and get it, and if you were one of them, and didn't have enough faith in my word, and no gratitude in your heart to come, you could lie back there and rot in your disease before you would be saved.

Jesus paid the price for everybody. But God says if you don't repent and believe and accept Him, you'll be damned and that's all there is to it. I read of a man who had a dream that if he did enough good deeds, every deed would be a rung in a ladder by which he could climb up into heaven. Every time he did a good deed, when he gave anything to the preacher's salary; when he went to church; when he gave a coat to a beggar; every time added rung to the ladder. Bye and bye he had only two more rungs to fill out before heaven's door was ready to enter, the gate rolled back and Jesus looked out upon him and said: "I am the door; he that entereth not by the door, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and robber."

For can climb up by your morality, your culture and your respectability and all you've got on God's earth, but you're a thief and a robber if you turn away from Christ and expect to climb into heaven without Him.

HE WANTS TO SAVE YOU

Christ wants to save you and has done the best He can do but you're like the young man whose Godless disposition and sin had broken his mother's heart and sent her to her grave. The first night after the funeral, you know what an awful night it is, after the hearse has been carried away and you sit dumb with grief in the old home from which the light seems to have gone out. You feel as though you would die. That night the old father sat broken-hearted by the fireside and his disappointed Godless son came down stairs and picked up his hat.

The father said: "Where are you going?"

"I am going down town."

"Oh, my boy," he said, "don't go: that is the first night mother has been out of the house and I am so lonely; sit there where mother used to sit and stay with me tonight."

But he said: "No, I've got an engagement," and as the old man pleaded with him, he said: Step aside, for I am going out," and the old man threw himself on the floor before the door and said: "My son, if you pass out of this house tonight you will have to go over my body to do it."

And with a curse the body trampled his father's body beneath his feet, opened the door and went out into another night of sin.

And so I say to you tonight, if you go to hell, you will have to go over every prayer that has been offered for you; over every tear that's ever been shed for you, over every sermon you've ever heard, over your mother's grave and over your baby's coffin, some of you, but more than all this you'll have to go over the body of the crucified Christ who throws Himself before the door of hell and begs you to stay back.

a box-spring bed that pulls out like a dresser drawer

An absolute innovation. Has every fine feature of the best davenport. The low, loungy lines; the heavy overstuffing; the deep, luxurious cushions; the soft front edge; the handsome finish.

But, due to this new construction, it contains a genuine box-spring bed. Nothing of the davenport has been sacrificed. You would buy it as a davenport alone. This wonderful box-spring bed that "pulls out like a dresser drawer," with the aromatic, Tennessee red cedar chest for bedclothes underneath it, is an added feature.

Pull the bed out like a dresser drawer—easy—noiseless. Ready in 15 seconds.

Merely turn cushions over to complete the bed. The moth-proof, dust-proof bedclothes chest of red cedar is beneath.

A full-size bed—the only one of its kind with a wonderful, body-conforming, rest-inducing box spring.

Watch for further announcements. Come in and see this new idea demonstrated. It will prove that you can have a davenport and an emergency bed without sacrificing a particle of either. A special factory expert will be here for a few days. He will have a fine assortment of coverings, including beautiful mohairs, velours, tapestries and leathers, from which you may make your selection. Don't miss this.

PLANS OF POWER COMPANY TOLD

Current Supply for Lima to be Increased, Sterling Says

NEW CONTRACTS ARE MADE

Transmission Lines to Toledo Plant to be Built

Steps being taken by the Ohio Power Co. to increase the power supply of Lima from 3,000 k.w. per hour to 5,000 or more, were explained to members of the Rotary club by Harry C. Sterling, manager of the power plant here, Monday noon at the Hotel Norval.

A 1,000 k.w. generator has been repaired and put in operation at the Lima plant and is working with the recently overhauled equipment, Sterling said.

Contracts with the Western Ohio Railway whereby a 3,000 k.w. generator will be installed in the St. Marys plant to use available boiler capacity there have been completed, he said.

Current from Ft. Wayne to the amount of 2,000 k.w. will also be available as soon as certain changes are made in the transmission lines between Lima and that city, Sterling asserted.

Construction of a steel transmission line between Lima and Fostoria will be started sometime in the spring. This will make available a large amount of current from the Ball Light plant at Toledo and from the Ohio Power plant at Newark, Sterling pointed out.

Within three years it is hoped that the new plant near Zanesville will be completed and a portion of its 250,000 k.w. made available for Lima. This will mean another huge transmission line, Sterling said.

Distribution lines in the city are being overhauled and placed in the very best possible condition. Transmission lines have been acquired which will carry power into every section of the city ready for use by the manufacturing plants, Sterling told his hearers.

A brief survey of the public utility field and its importance to the dwellers of the cities was given by Sterling before telling of the plans for this city.

Rotarians will provide their annual Christmas baskets this year, Edward Gordon, president, announced. Final arrangements will be made this week.

An invitation from Dr. W. E. Biedersdorf to the Rotarians asking them to attend the evangelistic meetings now in progress was read. Dr. Biedersdorf is an honorary member of the Rotary.

NO HEARING IN HINES CASE OF VENUE CHANGE; LIPPINCOTT ANSWERS

No hearing on the motion to transfer the trial of Otis Hines, mutilated waiter, slayer of Robert Halloran, to another county in a change of venue held in common pleas court Monday.

An answer to the motion was filed by Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott, shortly following the noon recess.

Lippincott recited in his reply that a fair trial could be given Hines in Allen co. Causes advanced by the defense for moving the case to an outside county were refuted by Lippincott.

In support of his answer, affidavits countering those of the defendant, were filed. Citizens who signed the affidavits affirmed that it will be possible to select an unbiased jury and that no widespread prejudice against Hines exists in Lima or Allen co.

The court has not assigned a time for completing the hearing.

MATCH SHOT FROM MR RIFLE WOUNDS CHILD

Twelve year old Sedona Schindler, residing at 618 N. Jefferson-st., was the victim Sunday of a shot fired from a gun in the hands of a playmate.

But the "bullet" which struck her in the cheek was only a dead match; a slight scratch on the face, a few tears, and perhaps a spanking for the other youngsters, were the net results.

Police were notified of the incident.

They investigated. They learned that Francis Kidwell, 14, of 628 E. Market-st., was playing with an air gun owned by Ralph Engle, 13, 606 W. Jefferson-st. He was using matches for ammunition.

One of them, accidentally struck the little girl, police say, while the three were playing together.

INJURED BY HORSE MAN MAY DIE

John Lane, Unconscious, Trampled by Equine for 12 Hours

KENTON—(Special)—For more than twelve hours an aged man lay beneath the hoofs of a horse in a barn near here, unable to summon assistance, unable to help himself—patiently, yet patiently accepting cruel but unrealized injury forced upon him by the dumb animal, Sunday.

The man, John Lane, 60, Piqua, residing on the F. A. McGuffey farm, is in a critical condition as a result. His injuries are believed to be fatal. He had gone into the barn to feed the horse. In some manner he was unable to explain, the animal threw him to the floor with such force that he was unable to arise.

Until Ralph Fry, an employee on the farm, passed nearly twelve hours later and heard the feeble cries of the aged man, Lane was subjected to trampling under the hoofs of the horse.

Physicians who examined the injured man Monday declared that practically all of his ribs had been broken by spindling kicks, his nose is broken, his face is lacerated and probable fatal injuries have been suffered.

RAIN AUGMENTS "BLUE MONDAY"

Monday, in a weather way, was a typical "Blue Monday." Rain for the most part of the way during the daylight period was the portion that fell to the lot of mankind and presaged a dark night, unless later afternoon arrangements are complete for a return of the steepest light service.

There is prospect only of service from the boulevard lights and even that isn't certain. Having failed to exercise thrift and frugality, in laying in a supply of fuel, Ted was required to hustle after Jupiter Pluvius assisted himself.

More rain, tonight, warmer in east portion. Tuesday rain, probably turning to snow, with much colder temperature Tuesday.

Most everyone was impressed Monday with the fact that the brand of weather dished up for the first day of the week was too good to last any particular length of time. Actually, it is reported, citizens who were clad in heavy overcoats, sought the shady side of the street, for comfort.

Something unusual for December 3d but it's a fact.

Lantern Serves As Street Light

Somebody residing in the east end has a sense of humor.

Lights in Lima tonight afforded that individual an opportunity to give vent to his playfulness.

He sought to penetrate the shroud of darkness which enveloped the city Sunday night.

So—

He affixed a lighted lantern to the wires from which hung the useless are lamp.

The intersection of Bellefontaine and Dewey-ave, as a result was not dark. Neither was it very light.

The lantern was still burning at noon Monday.

5 ADMITTED TO CITIZENSHIP

Five new citizens were given papers by Judge Fred C. Becker at a naturalization hearing held in common pleas court Monday.

The quintet of new Americans, representing Germany, Great Britain and Greece, were questioned regarding their knowledge of the laws of the country and then sworn in. John T. Colner, clerk of the courts, administered the oath of allegiance.

Each new citizen was then presented with a flag and button by Mrs. E. C. Powell, of the Americanization committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"We present this flag to you in the hope that you will become a good citizen," declared Mrs. Powell. "If our committee can help you in any way to accomplish that end, we are ready to do so."

Judge Becker also urged the members of the class to continue their study of the government and its forms, that they might use the ballot with greater intelligence.

The five naturalized are: Alexander G. Gumberoff, 402 N. Pine-st.; Timothy J. Corbett, 822 Greenlaw-av; Otto Hell, 400 E. Pine-st.; Thomas J. Jones, Gomer; Friedrich Leusie, 628 N. Jackson-st.

Petitions filed by Tom Caldarone and Joe Paris, Austrians, and Louis Fox were dismissed.

Petitions filed by Frank Schaffer, Germany; Harry Chakores, Greek, were continued. Joseph Dybsak, Austrian, 1237 E. Johns-av, was instructed to file a new petition.

No women applicants for citizenship appeared at the hearing. It is believed by naturalization officials, however, that several may seek citizenship papers at the April hearing.

ADVANTAGES FOR ALIENS IN LIMA

This City Leads, "Education Week" Facts Indicate

Lima is far in advance of the majority of Ohio cities, regarding advantages which it offers to aliens, who are seeking to become American citizens.

This fact was brought out Monday in the observance of "Education Week." The main topic of the first day of the week is naturalization and Monday arrangements were made all over the state to make a special appeal to aliens to become citizens.

In Lima, however, the night schools include a class for aliens who are preparing to become citizens and instead of one day devoted to the alien, Lima is devoting two nights a week.

With but one exception the night school class includes every alien who has made application for citizenship. According to Superintendent of schools J. E. Collins, aliens who desire to become acquainted with the laws and customs of the United States may join the class for regular sessions Monday night.

One of the big events on the program for Tuesday, which is set aside for "patriotism," will be the teaching of the American Creed to every student in the schools.

This was written by William Tyler Page and has been approved by congress as embodying an ideal which every American is expected to know.

BOY, 17, FACES COURT ON MURDER CHARGE

CLEVELAND—Sam Picone, aged 17, went on trial in common pleas court here today for first degree murder in connection with the killing of his brother-in-law, Ignazio Baggia, following threats, the boy said, Baggia made against the life of Picone's father. Baggia was shot July 26 at the Picone home. Picone says his father and Baggia had a quarrel and that he questioned Baggia regarding the threats. Baggia also swore he would kill him if he harmed his father. Picone asserts.

SAFE ROBBED

DELPHOS FACTORY NIGHT WATCHMAN UNDER CHARGE OF LIQUOR POSSESSION

Sentence for John Smith, N. Main-st., Delphos, arrested Saturday night by Chief of Police H. A. Mahres and Officer Fred Boley on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, has been deferred pending further investigation.

He is held in Delphos city jail without bond, having entered a guilty plea Saturday night before Mayor J. K. Williams.

Smith is a night watchman at the Hinge-Hausch paper mill and known as "Dink Smith." He told police a man driving a large car drove up to the office of the company and inquired of him about the Lincoln highway. After receiving the information, the stranger gave him a pint of liquor, he said. The silver bailed from Ft. Wayne, he said.

Developments are expected with regard to the stranger Smith reported, according to police.

U. S. EXPENSE CUT $600,000,000

makes some appropriations which carry over from year to year.

A surplus of $180,969,125 in the government's financial operations for the next fiscal year was estimated as compared with a probable deficit this year of $273,969,712.

The total receipts of the government during the next fiscal year was estimated at $2,351,612,359 as compared with $2,429,862,959. These estimates were based on no reduction of taxes; and include a back tax collection of approximately $200,000,000.

Outstanding in the budget is the appropriation for national defense, which totals $546,423,870.

The army asks for $256,552,377, which would provide for a regular army of 125,000 men and 12,000 officers. The navy wants $289,871,500, which would provide for 150,000 men and 15,000 officers. These appropriations would maintain the land and sea forces at their present strength and are the lowest since the war.

Referring to the large amounts which the federal government is contributing to the states each year for road building and other projects, the president said he was concerned because he felt this policy was causing large increases in state, county and municipal indebtedness. He made no definite recommendation on this however. He also indicated the disapproved large expenditures for research, improvement and development, which have no business with "the business of government."

OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING
"That we approach the commencement of the fiscal year 1924 with an estimated surplus for that year of $180,969,125 is certainly most encouraging," said Harding.

"While I am hopeful that there will be no deficit in the current fiscal year 1923, if such a deficit does occur, this surplus for 1924 will give margin to take care of it."

The sum of $1,256,716,939 is provided for military functions which includes military pensions, retirement pay, annuities and world war allowances and national defense," the president said.

The amount recommended for national defense is divided into two classes: Army $256,552,377; Navy $289,871,500.

The amount recommended for maintenance an operation of the army will provide for a regular army of 125,000 officers and 125,000 enlisted men, exclusive of the Philippine scouts, which is the force now authorized by congress; will provide for the training of 15,000 reserve officers for a period of 15 days and for 150 for a period of three months, as against 5,000 for 15 days during the current fiscal year, will provide for the attendance of 35,000 men at civilian military training camps as against 27,000 during this fiscal year and will enable the military bureau to increase the strength of the national guard from 150,000 officers and men—the strength of June 30, 1922—to 215,000 officers and men.

OFFERING MOUNTS! TO $7,525

A bold and awful statement to fling in the face of God Almighty, but which only roused in men angels fear to tread.

"Mrs. Eddy said: 'Where is not capable of sin.' The Lord say in His name that man is capable of sin; that every man does sin and is a sinner before God. Who shall we be before God? Can't both be right. Is there? They can't. Eddy's little human idea of the man is more than the Word of God more value than the Word of God."

The mighty strides of civilization could not be accounted for. No it was not for Christianity. No it was not for the teachings of Jesus. It was made a safe place for the teachings of Jesus. The only place of uncivilization today are places where the Lord's Word has not reached.

"If the churches were to be taken out of your community, you would revert to the savage state of yesterday, because all progress hinges upon the religion of your day."

There is only one thing that has ever had the power to drag the sinner up from a drunkard's grave, to take the professional dancer from her hellish career and that one thing has always been the teaching of Jesus Christ. Christianity is the face of common sense. If Christianity were not a truth, the hellfire would have crushed it long ago. They have been striving for ages to get a secure argument against it, but they have never been able to find one that would hold.

INFIDELS BALKED

Their only objections and arguments are that if it be true God would never have permitted His only Son, Jesus Christ, to die on the cross for our sins. There would have been an easier way and they can't see why the sufferings of a pure man could ever answer for the sins of a multitude of sinners.

"Jesus Christ had to die on the cross," he had to suffer and he had to rise from the grave to prove to the world that He was the Son of God and to show that we all must die and that we shall rise again from the grave.

"By so doing, He found pleasure in the eyes of God Almighty and received the promise from Him that all the sins of the world would be forgiven if they would be brought to the feet of Jesus Christ. The atonement was not a commercial transaction; it was a moral satisfaction."

"Mr. Infidel," declared the evangelist, "when you say that the Word of God is a lie, you put God Almighty up against an awful stiff proposition. In a second He could take the life from your body and let you go to the lost world, but He loves us so much above a human love, that He stays by your side thru infidelity and offers you pardon for your sins. He is ready to forgive a human being. He would have the rage of a human being and many of you would never leave this tabernacle alive. You would be in hell before morning."

"Don't say that if Christ died for all, all will be saved," said Biedewolf. "If this tabernacle was filled with sick people and I had the power to say 'Get up and come to me and you shall be made well,' I could help only those that came to me. The ones who remained in their sins and lacked the faith of the words, would still be just as sick as they were before. I do not have that power, however, but, in the name of Jesus Christ who died that your sins might be forgiven I have the power to say that as many of you who truly repent of your sins and have faith enough in the word of God to come to me and pray with me for your sins, will be forgiven and will have a clean page to start all over again. Rise up," he continued, "come up and take my hand for Him and He will prepare a place in Heaven for you and keep you from the torture of the devil in the hell."

GOD IS SAVIOR, JUDGE

"Today He is your Saviour, tomorrow He may be your Judge. He is calling you. Tomorrow may be late. Come to Him while you still have a chance and He will pardon your sins for the sake of Jesus Christ who died on the cross for you and you will be made fit to live with Him in the glory of Heaven."

At the close of the service, 73 men and women prayed at the altar with the ministers of Lima. Their sins might be cast from the judgment book in Heaven. The scene was an affecting one. Strong men were shaken by sobs and women cried aloud.

"I am very well pleased with the result of the Young Peoples Meeting Sunday afternoon," Biedewolf said. He preached to the young people about their sins. He urged them to be more careful in their lives and try each day to live as their Heavenly Father desires them to live.

Over 7,000 persons were in the tabernacle Sunday afternoon. At the close of the meeting, 200 young people walked to the front and asked the evangelist to help them the nearer to Jesus Christ.

The morning service was given mostly to raising money to pay the tabernacle debt. Miss Pauline Reed sang a solo and John Ross Reed directed the congregation in singing. Dr. Biedewolf did not preach.

DRON ON "ATONEMENT"

Dr. Biedewolf, in his sermon at the tabernacle Sunday night, spoke as follows:—"Once in the end of the age hath appeared to save away sin by the sacrifice of Himself."—Heb. 9:26. The latest attempt to discredit the Christian faith, and to explode the moral system of Christianity has been made in Germany. They can't get out more devilry over in Germany than in most all the rest of the civilized world together. This time one of them starts out by the name of a person as Jesus Christ existed. He takes a pretty brave man to the face of what we know like that. It will turn out to show that the angels fear to tread. He says as well try to argue the sun out of the sky. Lay your Bible aside for a moment and open your secular history. You will find a quote Josephus for the fact that some wild-throat would jump in and make 'interpolation,' so I'll give

Tabernacle Sidelights

Someone said: "No wonder the Sunday attendance was so great. Every one came to hear Miss Pauline Reed sing. It isn't often Lima is privileged to hear such wonderful vocal solos."

"Why not make a big offering," said another. "If you attended grand opera and listened to Miss Reed sing you would pay a lot more than you are paying at the tabernacle."

"Cash one dollar" seemed to be all that the ushers could call out Sunday night. They announced it many times.

"I think the congregation has done all that can be expected of them," said Dr. Biedewolf. "It is time to look up the men who pledged themselves to put this thing over. Maybe they are not at home and maybe they do not care for the meetings. At any rate they are not here to help in this great offering, so they must be seen during the next two or three days."

"The Atonement was a commercial transaction," said Biedewolf. "It was a moral satisfaction."

"Christ cannot do it all," the evangelist exclaimed. "He died that your sins might be forgiven before the throne of God, but it is up to you to have faith in Him and be willing to walk in His ways."

"When you make light of the teachings of Jesus Christ and declare that He never died on the cross, you place God Almighty up against a mighty stiff proposition," said the evangelist. "It is just as easy for Him to snatch you from the face of the earth and let you drop into the pit of hell, as it is for you to raise your little finger."

"Today Jesus is your Saviour; tomorrow He may be your Judge," Biedewolf said. "While He is your Saviour He will forgive you and make allowances, but when the time comes for Him to be your Judge, He will be a just Judge and righteousness will be done."

No services at the tabernacle Monday. This is rest day for the Biedewolf party.

you the benefit of the doubt if you want it. But what about Tacitus? A historian is mighty careful to tell the truth about his business. He lived right after Christ, and a long paragraph tells about Him and says He was put to death by decree of Pontius Pilate. The infidels and atheists and Godless unbelievers of later time worked kinks into their brain and callous spots on 'em trying to prove this celebrated passage unauthentic. But Edward Gibbon, one of their number, the great scholar of the Roman empire, said: 'Give us no use; the passage stands every text, it's genuine as any passage ever penned.'"

Publius Lentulus in a letter to the Roman senate, describes Jesus as a man of mature years, with tall, his hair the color of a chestnut fully ripe; plain to the ears, whence downward it is more orient, curling and waving about his shoulders; his forehead plain and very delicate; his beard thick, in color like his hair; his eyes grey, quick and clear."

Two thousand years ago they led this man out to die. His death warrant was found by the French army written on a brass plate and signed by John Zorobabel, Raphael Robani, Daniel Robani and Capet.

A PECULIAR SIGNIFICANCE

This is the man of whom the text says: "Once in the end He appeared to save away sin by the sacrifice of Himself." That sentence at once surrounds the death of Christ with a peculiar and instinctive significance.

Other men have laid down their lives for the truth, other men have been crucified and beaten and crucified by the Godless gang, but never has it been said and never could be said of any other man that he put away sin by the death he died.

Paul says that He who knew no sin was made to be sin, or as the original puts it—made to be a sin offering—an offering for sin—in our behalf.

The death of Christ has some relation to sin such as no other death ever had. "The fellow who can't see the doctrine of the atonement in the Bible can't see anything." I want to help you to see it tonight; to help you to understand it and to appreciate it. And if you'll let me say with an honest mind, I think I can do it—I can help the most of you. Some of you I can't help because you don't want to be helped.

Now it's mighty important that you be helped on this subject; if you are not it means to be lost forever. I don't mean that any human mind can fully grasp it, but if you'll lift your eyelids of prejudice and impartiality and false teaching you'll see the light to bring you into right relations with God thru the cross where Christ put away your sin by the sacrifice of Himself.

and I say: "Old theories, what else has ever changed the drunkard from his cup, or wooed the gambler from his cards, made the libertine pure and the thief an honest man." And I say: "Until you can trot out something that will make me seek holy men and keep me that way that will do for this old sin-cursed world what the gospel of Jesus Christ has done for it, I'm not going to espouse your hellfire doctrine, but I'm going to call my hopes on the cross of Christ where a mother nailed here and where millions of others of the brainiest and best of the world have done the same thing. I say, Mr. Infidel, what are your objections to the atonement?"

"Well," he says, "it wasn't necessary. What's the need of Christ suffering? If God is love and full of goodness, why can't a man just confess his wrong and be forgiven, just as an earthly father forgives his child without demanding satisfaction in payment of a penalty?" "God," he says, "ought to be as merciful as man."

"Well, you talk no nonsense when you talk like that."

IT WAS NECESSARY

Now listen to me. Some of the great Christian writers on the atonement hesitate to say that God couldn't have devised another way to save us. But God says it was necessary for Jesus to die, and that settles it for me. "Christ must needs have suffered," the Bible says, and I don't believe God would ever have allowed Him to suffer so. I don't believe He would ever have left the Godless gang to spit in His face, and the howling mob to smite Him. He never would have allowed His blessed Son to stagger along the "Painful" underneath the weight of the mighty cross they bore upon His bleeding back fresh from the scourging of the Roman governor until tired and exhausted. He stumbled and fell and they cursed Him and smote Him and cried: "Ha, Ha," and when they came to the place where they hurled Him down on the cross, and I can see the spikes as they go into His flesh, one into His right hand and another into His left, and a third thru both His feet, and I don't believe God would ever have let them do it if He could have saved the world by a method less costly. It was necessary.

IT WAS GOD'S BUSINESS

Yes, you say you don't believe in it, and yet it don't offend your sense of justice very much when you see it take place in human affairs. I might tell you it's God's business and not yours, but I won't.

Now listen to me, and I'll help you to see it if you've got anything to see it with. But don't flaunt your little periscope intellect in the face of God's because there are divine depths that human plummet cannot sound.

When a rebellious sinner shakes his puny fist in the face of God and goes about in his sin, smacking the divine law right and left he brings God up against a serious problem. God could annihilate you in a second, if He wanted to. But He don't. He ought to. There are people here tonight and you ought to be in hell the way you are treating God. We'd all be there if it wasn't for His love. And so love searched the depths of infinite wisdom for some plan by which four things could come to pass:

First—That the guilty sinner might be spared.

Second—That he might have his heart broken and become good.

Third—That the principle of justice should be honored.

Fourth—That His holy law should be vindicated and His moral government honored and upheld.

A MORAL SATISFACTION

"Oh, you say, Jesus couldn't suffer a penalty equal to what was due for all our sins. No, of course He couldn't," one of our men said. "He did it was not a commercial transaction; it was a moral satisfaction and His divine nature gave a costliness to His sacrifice and a value to it when accomplished which it pleased God to accept as in eternal harmony with the demands of the situation. And you have the audacity to sit down there and say that God didn't know as much about what was right and consistent with the moral order of the universe as you do."

Now notice one other thing. God so honored the moral law of His government that He wouldn't let Jesus come into humanity without sharing the consequences of humanity's sin.

MAKES MEN GOOD

It ought to break your heart, and this is the other great glory of God's marvelous plan. Wherever it is heard it touches the heart and makes men good as no other thing could do. You talk about punishment being reformatory. It usually leaves a man worse than he was before. One can pound some men to death and never reform them. But there's a better way.

Men and women, this is the salvation that I preach to you. Without it you are lost. Don't say because Christ died for all therefore all will be saved whether you repent and believe or not. Suppose this tabernacle was full of sick people and I offered a remedy to every one who was able to walk down this aisle and get it, and if you were one of them, and didn't have enough faith in my word, and gratitude in your heart to come, you could lie back there and rot in your disease before you would be saved.

Jesus paid the price for everybody, but God says if you don't repent and believe and accept Him, you'll be damned and that's all there is to it. I read of a man who had a dream that if he did enough good deeds, every deed would be a rung in a ladder by which he could get into heaven. Every time he did a good deed, when he gave anything to the preacher's salary; when he went to church; when he gave a coin to a beggar; every time added rung to the ladder. By and by he had only two more rungs to fill out before heaven's door was ready to enter, the gate rolled back and Jesus looked out upon him and said: "I am the door; he that entereth not by the door, but climbeth

You can climb up by your morality, your culture and your respectability and all you've got on God's earth, but you're a thief and a robber if you turn away from Christ and expect to climb into heaven without Him.

HE WANTS TO SAVE YOU

Christ wants to save you and has done the best He can do, but you're like the young man whose Godless disposition and sin had broken his mother's heart and sent her to her grave. The first night after the funeral, you know what an awful night it is, after the hearer has been up and the coffin has been carried away and you sit dumb with grief in the old home from which the light seem to have gone out. You feel as though you would die. That night the old father sat broken-hearted by the fireside and his dissipated Godless son came down stairs and picked up his hat.

The father said: "Where are you going?"

"I am going down town."

"Oh, my boy," he said, "don't go."

up some other way, the same is a thief and robber."

You can climb up by your morality, your culture and your respectability and all you've got on God's earth, but you're a thief and a robber if you turn away from Christ and expect to climb into heaven without Him.

HE WANTS TO SAVE YOU

Christ wants to save you and has done the best He can do, but you're like the young man whose Godless disposition and sin had broken his mother's heart and sent her to her grave. The first night after the funeral, you know what an awful night it is, after the hearer has been up and the coffin has been carried away and you sit dumb with grief in the old home from which the light seem to have gone out. You feel as though you would die. That night the old father sat broken-hearted by the fireside and his dissipated Godless son came down stairs and picked up his hat.

The father said: "Where are you going?"

"I am going down town."

"Oh, my boy," he said, "don't go."

that is the first night mother has been out of the house and I am so lonely; sit there where mother used to sit and stay with me tonight."

But he said: "No, I've got an engagement," and as the old man pleaded with him, he said: Step aside, for I am going out," and the old man threw himself on the floor before the door and said: "My son, if you pass out of this house tonight you will have to go over my body to do it."

And with a curse the body trampled his father's body beneath his feet, opened the door and went out into another night of sin.

And so I say to you tonight, if you go to hell, you will have to go over every prayer that has been offered for you; over every tear that's ever been shed for you, over every sermon you've ever heard, over your mother's grave and over your baby's coffin, some of you, but more than all this you'll have to go over the body of the crucified Christ who throws Himself before the door of hell and begs you to stay back.

An absolute innovation. Has every fine feature of the best davenport. The low, loungy lines; the heavy overstuffing; the deep, luxurious cushions; the soft front edge; the handsome finish.

But, due to this new construction, it contains a genuine box-spring bed. Nothing of the davenport has been sacrificed. You would buy it as a davenport alone. This wonderful box-spring bed that "pulls out like a dresser drawer," with the aromatic, Tennessee red cedar chest for bedclothes underneath it, is an added feature.

Pull the bed out like a dresser drawer—easy—noiseless. Ready in 15 seconds.

Merely turn cushions over to complete the bed. The moth-proof, dust-proof bedclothes chest of red cedar is beneath.

A full-size bed—the only one of its kind with a wonderful, body-conforming, rest-inducing box spring.

Watch for further announcements. Come in and see this new idea demonstrated. It will prove that you can have a davenport and an emergency bed without sacrificing a particle of either. ## LIMA WANTS LIGHT

THE outstanding feature of Lima's dark street era, now three nights old, is the universal demand on the part of the public for lights. The innovation by the city government has proved to be the most unpopular move since the new system was inaugurated less than a year ago.

We have never believed that the city would continue in darkness until 1924. No matter how meritorious a movement, if it does not have the support of the public it must fail. And the lightless night edict does not have the support of more than a very small percentage of the people of Lima outside those responsible for the present condition.

The city has dispensed with street lights long enough now to realize some of the disadvantages which are to be expected if the plan is continued. Chief among these are the probability of a crime wave, soaring of insurance rates, increase in traffic accidents and the loss to Lima business houses of a gigantic sum during the holiday season.

People of the city are viewing the dousing of the lights as a pet "peave" on the part of the administration because the two mill levy was defeated at the polls in November while more than half a million dollars was voted for school purposes. This view may be altogether wrong. But if there is not the least desire for revenge in the minds of those in charge of the city affairs, they will hardly be able to convince the public of the fact in view of incidents that are a matter of record.

The public was not told months ago that a two mill levy would be required. Neither was it told that we were to have conditions such as now face us. If the two mill levy was "in the minds of the administration when it set out to give the city a "big league" government, nothing was said about it until shortly before election. Then when the levy was snowed under by an overwhelming vote, immediate steps toward retrenchment were taken. The administration had no assurance that it would be voted extra money by the people. It had no right to presume that it had only to ask and it would be given. Then when it had spent the year's operating funds in ten months instead of twelve and started slashing right and left almost the day after election, the people had some grounds at least for the belief a big majority entertains.

The Lima News supported the two mill levy, believing the money was needed. Condition of city funds immediately prior to the election told clearly what was to be expected. But water that had gone over the wheel could not be brought back. We do not believe that the vote which killed the levy was the result of lack of civic pride on the part of the voters. We believe another very tangible reason could be found.

There probably will be a concerted movement to get lights for Lima within the next day or two. The city commission meets at 4:30 this afternoon. There is an avenue open which will permit the lighting of streets and not seriously impair the city's credit. The commission and management is working on the theory of pay as we go. It would not be a fatal blow to this policy to rearrange the budget for the coming year to allow money intended for street repair to go into light fund and arrange to use funds from automobile taxes for street repairing. This would cut down street repairing to the extent of about $22,000, but we have bumped along Main-st long enough to forget some of the disadvantages of bad paving. This money would run the minimum number of arc lights. Then it would be merely a matter of book-keeping to operate the waterworks light plant for the boulevard system and allow the claim against the city for this service to stand until better times. It would be the same principle as the owner of a store going to his glove counter and having a pair of gloves charged to himself.

The public wants lighted streets. The city commission and manager, no matter what their personal opinions, will do well to respect this popular demand.

MIDDLE-BROW

A new word combination, "middle-brows," is coined by Margaret Slattery, lecturing in Boston. She says the word needs middle-brows rather than unthinking low-brows and intelligent but heartless high-brows.

Margaret is on the right track. The world today needs "heart" rather than intellect. Big problems remain unsolved because they are viewed as intellectual problems when they really are matters of "heart"—tolerance, charity, decency, brotherhood.

LAWING

IN 1892 a Chicago man sued another for $500. The case dragged along for 30 years, the litigants spending over $10,000 in appealing to higher courts, or 20 times the amount at stake.

A judge now dismisses the suit, unsettled. Both litigants are dead. So is one of the original lawyers. No one is certain what the bone of contention at the start was.

Something is wrong with the legal system that permits the spending of $10,000 to determine the ownership of $500.

SPIRITS IN THE CUPBOARD

One thing Dr. Conan Doyle has not yet explained is how he gets such extraordinarily prompt action from a few draughts from the flask when his fictional characters are to be revived. In real life if anybody comes to after a swig of whiskey or brandy we immediately set the fellow down as a malingeringer. Alcohol-ic liquors exert a miraculous stimulating action in fiction exclusively; in actual life the effect of whiskey or brandy is depressing to the circulation. Therefore well trained physicians and surgeons do not give whiskey or brandy, or permit it to be given to patients suffering from shock or collapse of a serious degree; although some doctors interpose no objection to a nip from a proffered flask if the patient is not too weak to stand it.

There is another side of the problem than the effect of alcohol on the circulation. Alcohol is a narcotic, and narcotics tend to soften or lessen shock or prevent it, by benumbing the sensorium generally. But alcohol is a very inferior agent if this effect is desired, compared with other drugs at the physician's disposal. There is no excuse and no occasion for keeping whiskey or brandy in the house, so far as first aid or emergency may be concerned. When occasion arises for the use of a quick stimulant the medicine cupboard contains Aromatic Spirits of Ammonia. This, like tincture of iodine, is a volatile liquid and must therefore be kept tightly stoppered. It is a solution of ammonium carbonate (the same substance as that in "smelling salts") in grain alcohol and ammonia water, with oil of lemon, nutmeg and lavender to give it a pleasant odor.

From half to one teaspoonful may be given, in about one-fourth glassful of cold water, at intervals of five or ten minutes for three or four times if necessary, to one in a faint, or a victim of shock or collapse of any kind. If the patient is quite unconscious and will not swallow, some of the aromatic spirits of ammonia may be poured on a handkerchief and held close to the nose, for it is a stimulant to the circulation even when inhaled (as in smelling salts.)

Ammonia being alkaline, a few drops of aromatic spirits of ammonia may be taken, in water, to relieve a sour stomach and to oppose or relieve sick headache. In such cases the dose should be repeated several times—five or 10 drops every five or 10 minutes for five or 10 times. This medicine, by the way, once had some reputation for quickly sobering a drunken person.

Mosquito bites and other insect stings may be relieved by touching with aromatic spirits of ammonia, or by sponging with a teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a half cupful of water.

Both as a stimulant and as an alkali, aromatic spirits of ammonia is an antidote in poisoning by acids.

Iodine stains may be sponged from the skin with aromatic spirits

VIVE CLEMENCEAU

His hair shows the frost of years,
But still there is fire in his eyes;
Erect as a youth he appears,
The havoc of age he defies.
He's proved that the soul can arise,
Undaunted by destiny's glance,
And so the whole countryside
cries,
"Hurrah for the Tiger of France!"

When others were ruled by their fears
And read but defeat in the skies,
He scorned either whining or tears,
But masterful, cunning and wise,
He spurred on the lagging allies,
His slogan was ever, "Advance!
Who lives—if this curse of ours dies?"

Hurrah for the Tiger of France!

A man—whose no weariness steers
Aside from the aims he may prize;
Unmoved by the shouts or the fears,
Alert to attack or advise,
He splendidly stands in the gulf
Of warrior who battles with Chance,
Brave figure whose strength none denies,
Hurrah for the Tiger of France!

ENVOY

He comes to make stronger the ties
That reach o'er the ocean's expanse,
He's welcome, beyond all surmise, age, five feet, four inches tall and I weigh 181 pounds. Am I too stout? If you think I am please tell me how to get thin.—Mrs. J. G. G.

Answer—I don't mind telling fat women collectively and absently that they are too stout, but I have learned from experience never to tell one individually any such bad news as that not even absently.

Wasn't sightedness
Is there any cause for near sightedness besides wearing glasses? Can an operation of any kind cure near sightedness? Should a young person who is quite near sighted put on glasses, if she can still read some without them? If such a person begins wearing glasses do they weaken the sight?—Mrs. N. M. S.

Answer—There is no other remedy than glasses for near sightedness. It is generally better for a near sighted young person to begin wearing glasses early, for this saves strain and preserves better eyesight in adult life.

Baby Holds Breath
What shall we do when our 8 months old baby holds his breath till he grows black in the face? He has done this since he was 5 months old.—Mrs. L. D.

Answer—Sprinkle cold water over his face and chest, or if you can open his mouth gently insert a finger wrapped with clean handkerchief or gauze and draw the tongue forward and slightly out of the mouth.

FROM OUR READERS

Editor of The Lima News,

In connection with the economies now being placed in effect by our city commission I wonder how little thought was given to the effect of the reduction of the personnel of the Fire Department upon the fire insurance rates of the city as a whole. The base rate of any city, town, or village in the State of Ohio is predicated upon the fire protection of that particular place and takes into consideration above all the efficiency of the Fire Department.

Lima, in order to retain the classification given it by The Ohio Inspection Bureau, must keep its Fire Department up to the recognized requirements of a city of its size. And, failing to do so, will be penalized by being placed in a lower class which will of course, increase the rate on all property in the city.

I happen to know that the matter will be taken up by the proper authorities at Columbus next week and unless action is taken immediately to bring the Fire Department to its proper efficiency Lima will be penalized.

Whether or not the short-sighted policies now being enacted by our esteemed city commission and the manager are the result of a pet peeve I am unable to say but whether or not unless some action is taken and at once the result of their foolishness will be felt by every property owner in the city.

Yours very truly,

H. M. Hare.

MAY ENTER RACE, FORD ADMITS

Confesses Flirting With Idea of The Presidency

AGENTS' HELP EXPECTED

Nation-Wide Organization Already at Work, Forbes Learns

(BY B. C. FORBES) — NEW YORK — (Special) —

A wooden trade man was chuckling over the fact that William M. Ford, of strike-trouble memory had last succeeded in getting Rockefeller money interested in the dry-goods industry. He referred to the election of William G. Rockefeller, son of the recent deceased William Rockefeller, as a director of the last Wood combination, the Consolidated Textile Company, designed to enter in the cotton wool trust industry. Wood naming him "direct general" of the venture.

My reply was that William G. Rockefeller didn't cut much of a figure in the financial world and that there was a vast difference between the John D. Rockefeller fortune and that of any other Rockefeller.

And now, within a few days of the Wood announcement, his new Rockefeller director is dead.

Some of the newspapers, in their caricatures, try to play William G. Rockefeller as a financial giant. He wasn't. True, at one time he gave promise of becoming a towering figure in Standard Oil affairs, but later he blundered there.

His brother, Percy A. Rockefeller, died as possessing real brains. However, he attended diligently to business. The only danger in his case, those who know him well declare, is that he has the speculative instinct very highly developed and may or may not be able to keep it under control. He attained notable success in his various activities.

Henry Ford now openly admits that he is flirting with the idea of the presidency. He says he is being persuaded to run.

As a matter of fact, when I was recently in Detroit, I was told most emphatically on all sides that the Ford organization was already at work laying foundations for a nationwide "Ford - for - President" boom, and that there wasn't a Ford dealer in any part of the United States who didn't realize the part he would be expected to play in the coming campaign.

I recently wrote something casting doubt on Ford's all-round fitness to preside over the United States government, mentioning, especially, his wild ideas concerning the wholesale manufacture of paper currency, a la Russia and Germany, and his woeful ignorance of history and of everything pertaining to governments.

In New York, this week I bumped up against both John B. Miller, President, and R. H. Ballard, Vice President of the Southern California Edison Company, Los Angeles, and was told that Mortimer Fleishacker, another public utility leader from California, was also in the city and that President W. E. Creed, of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was on his way here. I at once sensed mergers - mergers, you know, are very much in the air these days.

I was told, however, that the leaders of the National Electric Light Association are having their regular annual session at this time and that a few of the giants of the electric power industry are now pouring here.

At that, I wouldn't be tremendously astounded were the merger bug among these fellows, including those from the Pacific Coast.

Incidentally, it is pleasing to learn that both the industrial and home demand for current throughout California is still increasing most encouragingly, reflecting unusually active times.

How would you like to have money come rolling in so rapidly and in such volume that you felt nauseated with it?

That was the experience of James Cougars. In fact, he told me recently that it was this avalanche of money which influenced him to get out of money-making and to turn his attention to doing something, which, in his estimation, would be more worth while.

His first public service was rendered as Police Commissioner of Detroit. Then he was elected - and re-elected - mayor. And now the governor of Michigan has selected him to take the Senatorial seat vacated by Newberry.

Cougars may or may not make his mark as a Senator. As he himself admits, he has been accustomed to giving orders and having his orders promptly obeyed. Whether he will be able to adapt himself to the give-and-take, the compromise and vote-winning tactics of the politicians at Washington is somewhat doubtful.

Cougars is an individualist. Like many men of conspicuous ability, he is a strong-willed. Some people would say he is a mule.

When able to exercise a free hand, a man of this type can accomplish wonders. But such men do not always make good team-workers and at times things at Washington, political team-workers, as Woodrow Wilson learned so bitterly - and too late.

TIGER TAKES CASE TO WASHINGTON

Clemenceau Will Call on President Harding Tomorrow

(BY FRANK GETTY)

BALTIMORE — (United Press) — Georges Clemenceau, Tiger of France, carries his case direct to Washington today when he begins his final drive to win American support for his European peace plan.

After his brief stop in Baltimore during which he will speak at the Maryland Historical Society, Clemenceau will go to the capital where his work as one of the "big four" at the Versailles peace table was undone.

Meeting of the Tiger and President Harding, when the Tiger will probably present in person his case for further American participation in European affairs will come Tuesday. When will follow even a more dramatic meeting with former President Wilson.

REINING LINE DEFENSE Clemenceau, having practically finished his speeches throughout the country, expects to drive home at Washington what he has disclosed to be the purpose of his visit - enforcing upon America the realization of the need of defending the Rhine line.

This border is the peace line in Europe, in the Tiger's opinion, and guarantees that Germany will be kept on her own side of the line is the sine qua non of European peace. "This, then, he says, more than participation in the league of nations, is what he seeks of the United States."

As for the league, Clemenceau, in a statement to the United Press, declared he would welcome American participation. Not believing in the league as the ultimate instrument of peace, he nevertheless believes it has done some good and invites all America to join.

If she does not care to, well and good, he says, let her come in any way she sees fit.

"But she must come," the Tiger concluded.

Clemenceau's journey across the middle west enroute from St. Louis to Baltimore yesterday was one of triumph. Great crowds greeted him all along the route. At Indianapolis the crowds included a delegation of negroes who presented him with a silver loving cup. At Richmond, Ind., Dayton, Ohio, and Columbus, short talks and receptions brought him spontaneous greetings.

SEEK ALLEGED THIEF Delphos police were on the lookout Sunday for "Red" Martin, 22, negro, said by Lima authorities to have robbed the William Johnson soft drink place at N. Central-av of $175. A call was received at 9:55 p. m. Sunday. Nothing was seen of the alleged thief.

NAVY SECOND TO NONE URGED

Recommended by Denby in Annual Report to Congress

CAPITAL SHIPS HOLD OWN

Made Basis of Building Program - Aircraft Feature

WASHINGTON, (Associated Press) — A general naval policy providing for a navy "second to none" and strong enough to support American policies and commerce and guard American continental and overseas possessions was laid down today by Secretary Denby in his annual report to Congress.

Such a navy, the Secretary said, should and could be maintained within the provisions of the Naval Limitation Treaty. He added that although the present naval establishment was deficient in certain types, such as fast cruisers, aircraft carriers, seagoing submarines and aircraft, he would make no immediate recommendation for additional appropriations because of the present financial condition of the country.

Among the accomplishments of his Department during the past year the Navy Secretary recounted "the development of aviation as an integral part of the fleet," diversion of a greater percentage of repair work to government stations, increased steaming efficiency of battle craft, return of the officer personnel to a permanent basis after the temporary enlargement during the war, an extension of the navy school facilities for enlisted men, and inauguration of extensive and advance experiments in gunnery. He praised the record of the Marine Corps during the year, saying that previous high standards of the Corps had been maintained fully.

STATEMENT OF POLICY

The statement of general policy contained in the report was drawn up by the Navy General Board, and was said by the Secretary to be in his opinion not only sound in the present circumstances, but useful "for all times and under all conditions." The major premise of the policy was this:

"The Navy of the United States should be maintained in sufficient strength to support its policies and its commerce, and to guard its continental and overseas possessions."

As a corollary to his basic principle, and in view of the Naval Limitation Treaty terms, the General Board further adopted this statement of purpose:

"To create, maintain and operate a Navy second to none and in conformity with the ratios for capital ships established by the treaty for limitation of naval armaments."

"To make the capital ship ratios the basis of building effort in all classes of fighting ships."

"To direct the principal air effort on that part of the air service that is to operate from ships of the fleet."

"To assemble the active fleet at least once a year for a period of not less than three months."

"To maintain an active personnel afloat in conformity with the ratios for capital ships established by the treaty for the limitation of naval armaments."

"To maintain the Marine Corps personnel at a strength sufficient for current requirements."

"To make every effort, both ashore and afloat, to assist the development of American interests, and especially the American merchant marine."

"To create, organize, and train"

MISS HILDA WIDMAN

widely known artist of Jersey City, who, in a statement to the public, declares Tanlac has restored both herself and mother to splendid health.

Miss Hilda Widman, 245 Hancock Ave., Jersey City, N. J., is now an enthusiastic witness to the merits of Tanlac. Miss Widman is a talented artist, whose beautiful paintings have won her an enviable reputation in New York and vicinity.

"Knowing Tanlac as I do," said Miss Widman, "I could not doubt anything good I read or hear about it. Before I took this medicine I had so little energy that I dreaded to see day come, for I just dragged myself through my work, so to speak. I fairly ached from tiredness and got up mornings feeling just as worn-out as when I retired at night. Some days I could not eat, and being right down sick couldn't be much worse than this miserable, run-down feeling I suffered from."

"By the help of Tanlac I have overcome that condition and am feeling just the way I like to feel. My appetite never fails me, my sleep is sound and restful, and I am just as full of energy as I was listless and tired before taking Tanlac. The good Tanlac has done me is also very noticeable in my improved complexion as well as in the ease with which I do my work. Tanlac also made a different person of my mother after she had been ill and complaining for over four years and I think such a medicine is deserving of the highest praise."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

A Naval Reserve Force sufficient to provide the supplementary personnel necessary to mobilize the fleet and all its auxiliaries.

"To make the Naval Reserve secure in its status and organization as a part of the Navy and to guard its interests."

"To cultivate a close association of officers of the active Navy and of the Naval Reserve."

"To give to the public all information not incompatible with military secrecy."

"To have always in mind that a system of outlying naval and commercial bases suitably distributed, developed, and defended is one of the most important elements of national strength."

FIVE NATIONS IN PEACE PARLEY

Central American Envoys Open Conference at Washington

TREATY TO BE NEGOTIATED

Assemble Under Presidency of Secretary Hughes

WASHINGTON, (Associated Press) — Representatives of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica met here today under the presidency of Secretary Hughes to consider measures looking to the furtherance of peace in Central America and to negotiate a treaty for the permanent regulation of their mutual relations.

Pursuant to the text of the invitation extended by the State Department on October 23, last, the conference will discuss:

"1. The negotiation of a treaty or treaties to make effective those provisions of the treaties signed at Washington on December 20, 1907, which experience has shown to be effective in maintaining friendly relations and cooperation among the Central American States."

"2. Measures whereby in view of the achievements accomplished with regard to the limitation of armaments by the powers participating in the conference at Washington in 1921, and Central American States may carry on this endeavor and set an example to the world and above all to the powers of this hemisphere, by adopting effective measures for the limitation of armaments in Central America."

"3. The working out of a plan for setting up tribunals of inquiry, whenever any disputes or questions regarding the proposed treaty or treaties, which cannot be settled by diplomatic means, shall unfortunately arise between two or more of the countries."

"4. Any other questions which the countries represented at the conference unanimously desire to consider."

PLEDGES OF NATIONS

The 1907 treaties referred to were signed in a conference held at Washington by invitation of Secretary of State Elihu Root and consisted of a treaty of peace, by which the Central American countries pledged themselves to submit to arbitration their differences and to help each other to maintain internal peace and prevent revolutions; a treaty of arbitration, by which a Central American Court of Justice was established with authority over all five republics; and a convention for the establishment of an international Central American bureau and for the establishment of a Central American pedagogical institute. Annual Central American conferences were also provided for, as well as other means directed to the common welfare of the five countries.

KENTON NEWSPAPERMAN WRITES MOVIE SCENARIO

KENTON — "The Seven Sleepers of Ephesus," a new motion picture scenario written by William A. Flanagan, former city editor of the Kenton Democrat, and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Flanagan, of this city, will be produced soon by Cecil B. DeMille, according to a letter from the latter received by Flanagan.

The theme won fourth prize in the recent DeMille-Los Angeles Times contest for a new cinema thought. There were more than 30,000 themes entered.

TWO HURT IN CRASH AT AUTOMOBILE RACE

LOS ANGELES — Physicians today were watching closely the condition of Herschel McKee, racer and Hugh Curley, his mechanic, victims of the automobile race at the Los Angeles Speedway which was won by Jimmy Murphy. The accident came before the start of the race when McKee and Joe Thomas were tuning up their cars.

McKee's car crashed into the other in some unexplained manner and McKee and Curley were carried off the speedway seriously injured.

McKee's injuries were not believed likely to prove fatal, physicians said, but Curley's condition was admitted precarious.

HEALY CHOSEN AS IRISH GOVERNOR

Will be Appointed to Free State Office by King

LONDON — (Associated Press) —

The appointment of Timothy Healy as the first governor general of the Irish free state is now regarded as a certainty. It is understood that the post was offered to him some time ago and that its final allotment to the veteran champion of Irish autonomy depended only upon his acceptance.

That acceptance, according to several of the best informed correspondents in Dublin has now been given and the consensus of opinion today was that the announcement "the king has been pleased to appoint," will immediately follow the declaration of his majesty's assent to the Irish bill which will pass its third and final reading in the house of lords tonight.

The appointment of Healy is regarded sympathetically here and it is believed that a majority of his own countrymen will extend him a hearty welcome.

The Dail Eireann meets today for the last time as the provisional parliament of Ireland. It assembles tomorrow as one of the three estates of the new Irish realm. The others are the king, represented by the governor general and the senate, which has not yet been formed.

Reports from Dublin tell of the continued energy of the provisional government to forestall any last minute attempts to prevent the final establishment of the free state administration.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: PLEASE answer the following questions for me: (1) What would be a few nice things for a girl to make, who is just starting her "home chest"? (2) Please publish a few recipes for good Christmas candy. (3) Is a girl, who is almost 17 years old, too young to go with boys once a week? (4) How late should she stay out? (5) What kind of games are nice to play at a party, where girls and boys are present? (6) How are my writing and punctuation? "SOMEBODY."

THERE are countless articles a girl may select to make or embroider when starting her home chest. Among these are pillow cases, guest towels, dresser scarfs, luncheon sets, tea sets, bed spreads, card table covers, linens, embroidered glass and dish towels. Now isn't that a sufficient supply to keep any girl occupied for endless hours? (2) Peppermint drops: To two level cups of sugar add one half cup water and cook until it forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Have ready the white of one egg, beaten stiff. Pour in the sugar, beating all the time. Then add one half teaspoon of essence of peppermint. Drop by teaspoonsful on waxed paper or other greased surface. Chocolate Caramels: Mix two cups of granulated sugar, one half cup of milk and one fourth pound of unsweetened sugar. Put on the fire until melted, stirring only enough to prevent burning. Let it boil until it sugars around the sides. Then remove from the fire and add a tablespoon of butter, a pinch of salt and one half teaspoon of vanilla. Stir briskly until quite stiff so that it will barely pour. Ten minutes is about boiling time. Pour on buttered tin plates and cut in squares. (3) No. (1) She should be home by 10 or 10:30 o'clock at the latest. Of course, when attending a dance it is usually impossible to be home at this time. (5) I have not sufficient space in this column to arrange games. Look thru the magazines for suggestions. Also there are books which are devoted to games of various kinds. (6) Your writing is beautiful and your punctuation very good.

Dear Miss Smart: (1) Is it proper to permit a young man of 17 years kiss you and put his arms around you if you are engaged to him? (2) Is a young man supposed to take hold of a girl's arm or should she take hold of his arm when walking? (3) What would be a nice Christmas present for a boy? "I JUST WANT TO KNOW."

(1) A young boy of 17 years is much too young to be engaged. (2) This is a question on which various persons differ. However, my personal opinion is that it is absolutely necessary for someone to do the "arm holding." It looks much better for the boy to take hold of the girl's arm. He is supposed to be her escort. (3) Imported wool scarfs, gloves, knit, silk or grenadine, leather belts, initial or name belt buckles, stationery, clothes brushes or handkerchiefs.

Fate Takes Hand---and Barrett Meets Myra

—BY ZOE BECKLEY—

Barrett felt a curious lightness without relief. It was something to know he had launched out, that there would be no more weighing of chances, no more hesitation.

He was through with maddening monotony. Whatever was ahead must be change and test and trial. It did not matter which it was, so long as it led on and on.

Up to the moment he had found Myra had run away he had pictured his immediate future as with her. There had been in his picturing the tang of something positive, all that Myra stood for, a steadfast hazard.

Now that she, too, had shown herself weakly afraid of convention—that is how he put it—he would have to go on alone. Well, it was a bitter tang the adventure took on, but it did retain a tang.

He was on deck. The line of Sandy Hook was faint with distance. A raw, east wind whipped blood into his face. He began to feel the lack of food—not hunger, but a lack.

And he felt tired and as if his will had gone to sleep.

He started apathetically for the grill when around the end of the promenade deck came suddenly a woman buoyantly striding.

No amount of cold-weather clothing could disguise that familiar walk—dainty yet energetic, feminine and self-reliant. She came on toward him, her head lowered to the stiff wind.

Barrett stood rooted to the deck, unable to think fast enough to meet the situation. At the same time there came such a turmoil of confused emotion that even could he have decided on a course of conduct the next moment must find him under the drive of a different impulse.

"MYRA!"

The woman her head still bent to the wind, one gauntleted hand holding down her mannish little soft hat, was almost abreast of him. Another step and she would pass. He stepped forward.

"Myra!"

Startled, she looked up at him. Then seeing it was Barrett, her face flushed scarlet, then paled. Shocked, appalled, panic-stricken, she looked as though catastrophe had overtaken her.

"Jack Barrett," she merely moved her lips, and stood there staring. (To Be Continued.)

GEORGE SISLER WOULD HAVE MADE GRID STAR, SAYS YOST

(By Billy Evans)
GEORGE SISLER of the St. Louis Browns is the greatest all-around ball player in the game today.

Sisler is shortly due to fall heir to the crown of the greatest exponent of the national pastime, Ty Cobb. Sisler is the logical successor.

Recently while talking to Fielding Yost, George Little and several other former star Michigan players, the name Sisler was brought up.

A few minutes before the question of open-field running had been discussed. Coach Little had just said a number of complimentary things about Haliback Kipke of the Michigan varsity.

"What a wonderful end or back field player Sisler would have made if he had come out for football," remarked one of the assistant coaches. "In the days of Sisler at Michigan we had a couple of mighty good lines," remarked another mentor.

"If Sisler had been playing a half-back in those days he would have been able to get a good start on every play. Often the opposition would have needed a motor cycle to have overtaken him."

"Yes, I often watched Sisler running the bases in baseball," remarked Chief, as the players and assistant coaches invariably refer to Yost. "Every time I saw him steal a base I would wish that I had someone in my backfield as fast as him. A player with Sisler's speed, backed up by a good line, would have been enough material to have made a great coach out of an ordinary one."

"Sisler is the type of athlete whose great natural ability plus a keen brain would have made him a star in any branch of sport that he took up," was the fitting tribute Yost paid the man who was last season picked as the most valuable ball player in the American League.

Had not Sisler decided on baseball as a career after he got out of college he probably would have taken a whirl at the gridiron game. Sisler was a pitcher during his college days and a great one. He was advised against football because of the fact that even a slight injury to his pitching arm might ruin his major league career.

Sisler made his American League debut as a pitcher and made good from the start. He also showed such natural ability at the bat, and great speed on the bases, that it was felt he should be in the game every day instead of every fourth day as is customary with a pitcher.

It was decided to make him over into a first baseman. When Sisler quit pitching he was probably the best southpaw in the American League. Seldom does a great pitcher quit that position to take a flier at something else.

In a very short time after shifting to first base Sisler demonstrated he was even more valuable to the Browns at that position. Today he is the premier first baseman of the American League. In many other departments of the game he also leads.

Thus the belief of the Michigan coaches that Sisler would have been as great a gridiron star as he is in baseball is not without foundation.

If Sisler had played college football his greatest difficulty would have been following his interference. Because of his great speed it probably would have often been too slow for him.

St. Petersburg Preparing For Annual Horse Shoe Tourney

(By John Lodwick)
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (Special) — With football tucked away in the closet for another year and the fight game lying dormant for the want of new blood, sport fans are due to be fed up on "barnyard golf" the good old game of horse shoe pitching which has America in its grip as an interesting fad for young and old. Here the nation's best in the art of "slipper slamming" will be entertained late in February when the fifth annual mid-winter tournament for the United States championship will be held.

All the king bees in the horse shoe pitching world are preparing to trek southwards for the tourney while several of the more ardent devotees are already on the ground lumbering up for the contest which will bring leaders at the finish, bags of gold. A prize list of $5,000 in addition to medals, cups and other trophies will be hung up.

Frank Ludin of New London, Ia., present national title holder has already entered the February meet along with several other ex-national champions including Charley Davis of Kansas City, Mo., Fred M. Brust, Columbus, O., Frank J. Jackson of Kellerton, Ia., George Mays of Akron, O., and Charley Bobbitt of Lancaster, O.

Other stars include the names of C. Spencer, Oklahoma state champion of Picher; C. A. Gant of Pittsburgh, Pa.; G. E. Snyder of Abilene, N. Y.; Harry J. Bourne of Atlantic City; Vic Grady of Maroa, Ill., and others.

There are 34 horse shoe pitching lanes in the "Sunshine City" now available for the would-be champs to practice upon. 48 of which are located in "Barnyard Golf" Park situated on the Tampa Bay waterfront. The national meet will be conducted under the auspices of the National Association of Horse Shoe Pitchers and held in the St. Petersburg baseball park where seating facilities will be provided for 10,000 spectators.

In former winters, the unusual sport event was held in Williams Park where only a very small percentage of fans could witness the progress of the tournament.

The annual horse shoe pitching meet annually here have become a St. Petersburg institution attracting players and followers of the old fashioned game from all sections of the country and creating considerable comment. The game appears very easy to conquer but the beginner finds extreme difficulty in making the equestrian footwear behave and rarely lands anywhere near the stake to count.

Notre Dame Grid Players Are Devout

Centre College gained much fame by defeating Harvard.

That great victory over the Crimson caused Centre to be known wherever football is played.

Long before Centre defeated Harvard, however, the little Kentucky school had received much favorable comment because even in the heat of competition the athletes found time for prayer.

Centre College is a denominational school. Coach Charley Moran, a great fellow, a maker of men, always had his boys kneel in prayer before the start of the game. Each member of the varsity squad indulged in silent prayer.

Coach Knute Rockne and the boys who comprise the varsity squad of Notre Dame are not unlike Coach Moran and little Centre.

Early worshippers at one of Pittsburg's down-town Catholic churches the morning of the game with Carnegie Tech took several looks at two dozen clean-cut youths marched down the centre aisle of the church to receive holy communion.

The athletic youths were members of the Notre Dame football squad. The man who led the devout heroes of the gridiron was Coach Knute Rockne, a maker of football players and real men.

SHOTTON SET AS MANAGER

ST. LOUIS.—Another veteran of the major league circuit is expected to pass out of the select circle during the coming winter trading season and wear the managerial toga of the minors.

Outfielder Burt Shotton, assistant to Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals, is being groomed to lead a minor league club controlled by the St. Louis owners. It is reported that he is to lead the Arkansas team of the International League.

Shotton has served for 15 seasons on the diamond, starting his career with Erie, Pa., in 1908. His great speed first attracted the attention of the major leaguers and he was purchased by the St. Louis Browns in 1909. Playing two years in the American League he was released to Omaha, drifted over to Wheeling, drafted by the Cleveland Indians in 1911, transferred to Columbus and while with Columbus again was purchased by the St. Louis Browns.

Shotton remained with the Browns until the close of the 1917 season when with Johnny Lavan and Derrill Pratt he filed suit against Owner Ball charging the magnate with libel when an interview by Ball charged the three players with "laying down" on Fielder Jones as manager.

Shotton was traded to Washington, but when Branch Rickey became president of the Cardinals in 1919 one of his first moves was to purchase Shotton from Washington.

In the last two seasons Shotton has filled in occasionally as substitute with the Cardinals.

WOOSTER BUILDING NEW QUINTET

WOOSTER, Ohio.—Coach L. C. Boles of Wooster is building a practically new basketball team to take the place of last year's championship squad. There is but one regular back, Lloyd Van Nest, for three years end of Wooster's football team, and forward on last year's basketball squad, Van Nest will captain this year's quintet, probably shifting to center position.

Second string men of last year who show promise are Montgomery, a guard; Clark, forward, and Hays Hunter, forward or center.

Starn, Wooster's plugging back, a good 200-pounder, and Junkin, probably the most versatile player on the Wooster eleven, will be out for basketball practice, called for next week. Hurst, another back, whose work on the gridiron has been stellar, and Manly, a lineman, show possibilities of developing into guards of merit, and Mitchell, another football man, may be developed into a forward.

Pfleifer, of New Philadelphia, probably will be able to return to college next semester, and is expected to make good in a forward position. Injuries sustained while working in a steel mill during the summer, prevented Pfeifer from returning to school last fall.

Wooster will play seven conference games, opening their season Jan. 4, with Antioch, a non-conference team.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Jake May, a southpaw pitcher from the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast League, is the very latest example of the great uncertainty of the national pastime.

In the spring of 1921 May was picked to win a regular berth on the pitching staff of the St. Louis Cardinals. In the series with the Browns he justified that belief by working two fine games.

Shortly after the opening of the season he lost control entirely and despite his great natural ability was unable to win for the Cardinals.

Manager Rickey had designs on the National League pennant. He felt that he needed a winning southpaw to turn the trick. The poor showing of May in the early games caused Rickey to lose faith in him.

Rickey wanted a southpaw. His scouts reported to him that Bill Rife, a veteran big leaguer, was the best left-handed prospect in the minors. They figured Bailey's experience would help him get by. Rickey sought a southpaw who could take his turn as a regular and win a majority of his games.

Rickey had lost confidence in May to such an extent that he was perfectly willing to send May to the Beaumont club of the Texas League in exchange for Bailey. May met with just so-so success in that organization.

In the fall of 1921, Vernon of the Pacific Coast League made a trade which brought May from the Texas to that league. Vernon needed a southpaw and May looked like the best bet in the minors.

Last season May was one of the shining lights of the Coast League. The southpaw had a wonderful year, winning 55 and losing nine games. He was the most-talked-about pitcher on the coast.

May originally cost the St. Louis Cardinals $750. When the Cardinals wanted to make a trade with Beaumont for Ball, every National League club waived. Not a club owner or manager believed May would be any help to his club. Bailey, secured in return passed out of the majors the year before.

Now report has it that May is to be a member of the New York Yankees next year. The Yanks certainly need a southpaw, and if May can deliver he will do much for the cause of Huggins & Co. in New York.

It has been hinted that May will go to the highest bidder, doubt this since the New York Americans have some kind of a working agreement with Vernon that gives the Yankees first shot. Several players and a nice wad of money will likely turn the trick for the Yanks.

May, a big leaguer discarded two years ago, suddenly becomes the most-sought-after pitcher in the minors. You never can tell in baseball.

Three Brothers Star As College Coaches On The Gridiron

MILT ROMNEY
 Football runs in the Romney family. Three of the Romney boys who starred at college are now enjoying great success as coaches.

Milton Romney, who last year was a big star at Chicago, and who played a prominent part in the Princeton victory, is the youngest of the trio. He is now at the University of Texas.

Otto Romney is director of physical education at the Montana A. and M. College. E. Lowell Romney is coach of the Utah Agricultural College.

Milton Romney would have been captain of University of Chicago this year had he continued at the University. Romney, however, had so few hours left to complete his course that he passed them without taking an extra year.

Indoor Track Season Expected To Produce Exceptional Races

(By JACKSON V. SCHOLZ)

NEW YORK — The coming indoor season promises to be one of the most interesting that track fans have had the privilege of looking forward to for some time.

The competition and talent that is in view at this early date is enough to ensure a big percentage of exciting races in every meet of the year.

The east so far has taken the initiative in promoting the events, although the west has recently been making some creditable efforts.

In fact the eastern fans are reaching that stage of education where they are beginning to get critical and it is perhaps for this reason as much as any other that the meets continue to grow in quality as well as quantity.

Athletes themselves are making greater efforts than ever before. Thousands of youngsters are in training and the veterans, who have won their share of the honors and have sworn a dozen times to hang up their shoes, feel the call once more, haul out their togs, stained with the oil of many a rub, and test the rather questionable pep in their legs in preparation for the "comeback" they have promised themselves from year to year.

Loren Muchison has returned to his old stamping grounds and will be very much in evidence at all of the big affairs. He is the class of the field at present and has proved himself to be the fastest performer on the boards for the last several seasons.

Bob McAllister, national hundred yard champion, is going to cause somebody a lot of trouble and disappointment when the medals are dished out and that such stars as Lever, Laconey, Jennings and Wellers will also have a finger in the pie.

Tigers' Comeback At Chicago Recalls Penn-Michigan Game

Princeton's sensational comeback in the Chicago game recalls the famous uphill fight of Pennsylvania with Michigan, back in 1912.

In that battle the Maize and Blue was leading the Quaker platoon, 21 to 7, at the end of the first half. And as the score indicates, the Yost warriors had completely outplayed the Red and Blue. Obviously, therefore, it looked all over but the shouting.

Penn, tho, was not thru. In fact, hadn't got started. But with the opening of the third period a different tale was unfolded. The Quakers, fighting desperately, put on a great offensive, carrying the battle to the foe.

Michigan's eleven was played practically to a standstill, and slowly but surely Penn overhauled the big Ann Arbor advantage. Two touchdowns were scored during those last two quarters, but one goal was missed. Thus the contest stood 21 to 20 Michigan, with but a few minutes left to play.

And then—with but 30 seconds remaining—it happened, and Michigan saw apparent victory snatched from it. The fast-tiring Wolverines were forced to punt. The bout was a good one.

But Dick Marshall, standing on his own 45-yard stripe, grabbed the spinning pigskin as it sailed thru the air and dashed thru the entire Yost machine, 55 precious yards, for the winning tally. Then the final whistle chirped.

Thus, Michigan, 14 points ahead at half-time, and with the embargo apparently "in" was beaten out by a fighting Pennsylvania unit plus that scintillating center of little Dick Marshall's in the ebbing moments of the struggle.

GRID HONORS FOR "STATE"

COLUMBUS, O. — Lean in victories as the football season just closed has been for both Ohio State and Illinois, revision of "won" and "lost" columns shows the traditional rivals and erstwhile title contenders still in the lead after the tenth lap of the marathon begun in 1913, when Ohio State entered the Western Conference.

By taking its single victory this season in the Big Ten, at the expense of Illinois, while the Indians eked out decisions over only Wisconsin and Northwestern, the Buckeyes brought their marathon record to 26 games won, 14 lost, and one tied, for an average of .659, while the Illinois wound up the season with a 10-year record of 32 victories, 17 defeats, and five games tied for a percentage of .653.

Chicago, with a successful season, remains in third place with 34 games won, 21 lost, and three tied for .618. The only other University to boast a 30-year average better than .600, is Iowa, which, by dint of its sustained spurt thru two defeatless championship seasons, climbed into fourth place with 22 victories, and 14 defeats, for a pace of .611.

Wisconsin, which only began scheduling Western Conference teams again in 1917, and therefore has played fewer Big Ten games than its rivals, jumped to fifth place with a winning percentage of .555 in 13 games, by virtue of its unblemished record during the season just closed.

Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Northwestern, and Purdue, with .522, follow in the order named, with percentage of .537, .535, .532, .565, and .522 respectively.

HARVARD LOSES VETERAN TRIO

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Of all the big eastern football teams, Harvard is least hit by graduation. The crimson losses only three members of the first-string varsity eleven, George Owen, Charley Buell and Eskie Clark. It will be noted, however, that the trio includes two of Harvard's shining lights, Owen and Buell.

WITTENBERG IN SECOND PLACE

SPRINGFIELD, O. — By scoring 160 points in Ohio Conference games, the Wittenberg football team won second place in scoring honors of the conference. Wooster led off with 198 points, with Ohio Wesleyan third with 153 points.

Heberling, Wittenberg right half, was second highest scorer in the conference, totalling 52 points. Heberling carried over 6 touchdowns and kicked 16 goals after touchdowns from placement. Heberling leads the conference in goals kicked.

Eaton, Wittenberg fullback, made six touchdowns, the highest number of any fullback, in the Ohio Conference, and is tied with Kerschner, Ohio Northern halfback for fifth place.

Mack Hummon, Wittenberg right end, carried over five touchdowns counting thirty points for his squad. Hummon is the highest scoring end in the Ohio Conference.

Detroit varsity sets a season's record for safeties by scoring three of them while beating Vermont 14 to 2.

JUDY IS PAYING OWN EXPENSES THRU COLLEGE

ED JUDY

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—From polishing dishes in a fraternity house kitchen to varsity quarterback on the Ohio State eleven in one short year. Reads a bit like a fairy tale, yet it sums up the career of Ed Judy.

Judy hails from Martins Ferry, O., where he starred as a high school athlete for four years. On graduation Judy faced the proposition of paying his own way to a college degree and making good on the varsity eleven, his greatest ambition.

Judy occupies the unique position of being the first sophomore to be at the helm of the Scarlet and Grey since 1915 when Howard Yerges of Columbus won that berth in his second year.

Experience is all that Judy needs in order to develop into a great quarterback, says his football mentors. Judy has the spirit and the brains. He is a merit student in his classes.

Last year he received an "M"—the highest mark given in one-third of his academic work—a "G" the next—the second highest mark. On his graduation at Martins Ferry high school he stood second in his class scholastically. All of which proves that it is possible to indulge in athletics and do good work in the classroom.

Judy, by the way, has graduated from polishing dishes, which is a more polite title to give to a dishwasher. Last summer he toured the small towns in southern Ohio and West Virginia selling aluminum ware. He managed to save enough to start him in a new venture.

He is now a dealer in sweets. On his summer bank roll he has established serve-self candy stands in various places around the campus. The morning he replenishes the stocks, in the evening he collects the profits.

He has established a paying business, but feels that he can handle two jobs, now that the serve-self proposition is paying so well. At the close his services will be on the market for an one desiring strong, husky, young man for heavy work.

CAGE SEASON UNDER WAY

The first basketball practice to be attended by the entire Red and Green squad will be held at Central High Monday at 4 p. m.

The squad reported two weeks ago but players who were on the football team were excused until after the Thanksgiving Day battle with South.

Practically the entire grid aggregation will take out basketball uniforms, according to present reports, and the only player, who will start the season is Michaels. He sustained a broken finger in the Central-St. Marys game and, although he played in the final pigskin game, he will not attempt to shoot baskets until the digit is well.

South has not started their cage practice and the call will probably not be issued until the latter part of the week. Coach Burdette has been staging a series of basketball games in all gymnasium classes and he has had a wonderful chance to look over the available material.

With the players, who turned in their meekness, and several new men who show lots of ability, the squad will rapidly round into shape and will be ready for their first battle against Van Wert Dec. 22.

After a constant shifting of players from one position to another since the start of the season, Coach Baker at St. Rose seems to have found a winning combination and it is likely that the same lineup used against Wapakoneta will start in the Decatur game Friday night. Buchanan performed in good fashion and Wells seemed to be more at home at forward than at the jumping position.

A low score is predicted in the battle Friday night as both St. Rose and Decatur have wonderful defense systems. St. Rose has perfected a five-man defense that is almost impregnable and which should hold the Decatur forwards down. The visitors, however, showed a three-man defense at Delphos against St. John's which brought them a lot of compliments and which may prove sufficient to stop St. Rose pit shooters.

GYMNASTICS IS NEW SPORT

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—The Purdue varsity gymnastic team has bright prospects for a successful season due to the return of five veterans from last year's squad. Gymnastics, a varsity sport but a few years at Purdue, is attracting considerably more interest this year than it ever has before, as is attested by the squad of twenty-five that is out working for the team.

Captain Rudy, Shick, Thompson, Becherer and Comstock are the letter men from the 1921 squad and all are showing improved form over last season. Guppie and Koster, another pair of clever gymnasts, who were ineligible last year, have strengthened their scholastic difficulties, and are practicing for the squad. In addition to the regular squad, a squad of freshman, the first that has ever been organized, is also practicing.

At least three dual meets with Western conference universities are to be scheduled this year. Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are to be on the Old Gold and Black schedule, and it is possible that one or two other Big Ten dual events may be arranged.

The team will take part in the annual state A. A. U. meet, at Indianapolis, and also the Western conference event at Columbus.

Competition on the team this year includes work with the horizontal bars; parallel bars, flying rings, slide horse, tumbling, and fancy club swinging events. A fencing team is to be organized shortly, and will accompany the gymnastic team on all of its trips.

Negotiations are on for Toledo Scott to play Dec. 9 at Portland, Ore., for the national interscholastic grid title.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULARIndicators for Decline Temper-ment Upward MovementSTOCK MARKET IS IRREGULARNEW YORK — Opening prices in the stock market were decidedly irregular, food, motor and coal shares being moderately strong and oil and shipping shares were under pressure. Corn products and sugar each rose one point and the advance in food shares led the Studebaker stock out in the group with a similar gain.
Brothers A. was pushed 3-4 and a new high record for the year.
New strong spots were Woolworth,
Dapco, American Tobacco,
Petroleum and American
Oil and more took place in Market and Houston Oil, Pan-American and General Asphalt company and preferred. International broke 3 1-2 points or points below its high level of the week. Marine preferred and each dropped 1 1-4 and General Electric 1. Foreign exchanges were irregular.
The apparently poor quality of the buying power led professional traders to try some experimental selling toward the end of the hour. These offerings were easily absorbed, encouraging operations on the side which extended over most of the list.
The decline in active issues ranged from one to three points. Oil shares were particularly vulnerable to selling pressure. Standard Oil of New Jersey, Maryland and General Asphalt preferred extending their losses to 3 points or more and Standard Oil of California to two.
California Petroleum was a notable exception, rising 3 points on a renewal of rumors regarding a proposed recapitalization of the company. Harvester slipped back and losses of 2 to 3 points were closed by Fisher Body, United Refrigerator, General Electric, Sears
Roeback, Gulf States Steel and Machine preferred. One of the bright spots of the morning was a new high for demand sterling which closed 4 1/2 13-16. Call money advanced 1/8 per cent.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Postmaster E. E. Truesdale, Delphos, writes about a community mouster which has a regular hunt that takes in a number of stores in the nearby city on Main-st.

The cat receives much flattering attention and many saucers of the best milk wherever she goes. She has all the stores she can attend to now and as many more are on her waiting list, Truesdale asserts.

George Foss, Wapakoneta merchant, attended a social gathering, where the host was the owner of a particularly accurate scale. The women guests weighed a total of 3,858 pounds, Foss reports and the men guests a total of 3,623.

The difference would have been still greater, one of the guests explained to the Wapakoneta, but for the natural advantage the men had in the fact that the weights were recorded after dinner, some of the men having called for three help-all 'round.

Former state Senator T. M. Berry, Spencerville, heard a commotion in his chicken coop.

He rushed out with his shot gun, fired at the intruder and bagged a fine fat opossum. The opossum attracted much attention in the village, particularly from several hunters who had tramped over half the county at night without bagging one half so big.

Read Winegardner, was driving his car thru beautiful autumn scenery along a country road near Harrod.

Suddenly a mouse jarred from under the seat of his automobile, ran up his trousers leg. Read was so startled he ran the auto into a ditch, but fortunately escaped with a bad scare. So did the mouse.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

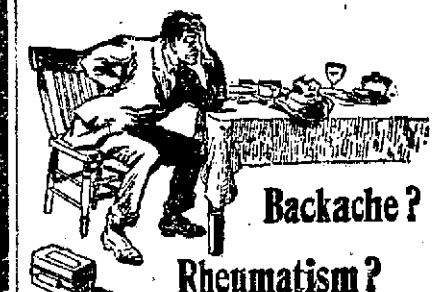

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu," 35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

Backache? Rheumatism?

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime-salts in the arteries, veins and joints. We often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," is bound to give immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia, in ridding the impoverished blood of its poisons by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store, by simply asking for "Anuric" for kidneys or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising from bed at night.

Send to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a ten-cent trial pkg. or ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache remedy).

Many folks in town have been benefited as well as Mr. Johns. Cincinnati, Ohio—"I had severe pains thru my back just across the kidneys and I would come so dizzy at times I would have to lie down. I also had inflammation of the bladder and suffered from a burning and smarting. I tried many kidney medicines without relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets. They gave me the first relief in four years. The backache left me and my kidneys are active and normal."—Wm. Johns, 254 Broad St.—Adv.

Is Your Back Giving Out?

Is a bad back making life a misery? Are you tormented with backache, and big pains? It's time to look to your kidneys. Strain, or overwork, or weakened your kidneys on that nagging back headache, dizzy spells, irregularities. Do some serious trouble. Kidney Pills. Your own recommendation. Ask for Mrs. M. B. Rice, 42 says: "My back ached so badly do my housework I did the washing, my back it would break. I didn't act right. My head whirled with dizziness floated before my eyes. My Pills brought relief of the aches and pains."
